Canadian Voters Toss Out Liberals In Surprising Poll

TORONTO (AP)—A smashing political upset today ended the 22-year rule of Canada's Liberal party and promised the country a minority Conservative cabinet headed by John Diefenbaker.

The Conservatives, campaigning on a "time for a change" platform, won the most seats in the House of Commons elections Monday but fell short of a majority.

Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent, the Liberal party chief, is expected to resign this week and recommend that Gov. Gen. Vincent Massey ask Diefenbaker to form a new cabinet.

The Tories will have to rule as a minority government, as the Liberals did after the 1945 election. Leaders of both minor parties said they would not join a coalition cabinet, although both indicated they would support the Conservatives if they put forward a satisfactory program.

IT WAS CONSIDERED likely, however, that Diefenbaker would not want to try governing for very long with the aid of other groups but would bring on another election soon in an effort to win a majority.

With 3 of the 265 Commons seats undecided, the Conservatives early today had won 110, the Liberals 103, the Socialist CCF (Cooperative Commonwealth Federation) 24, the Social Credit party 19 and independents 6.

In the popular vote, however, the Conservatives were trailing the Liberals, 2,239,086 to 2,396,080. This was the tabulation by the Canadian Press of 37,116 of the 43,100 precincts.

In the 1953 election, the Liberals had won 170 seats to 51 for the Conservatives.

Diefenbaker promised plenty during his campaign that would appeal to both the CCF and Social Credit party, including increased social security, farm aid, tax reductions and increased foreign trade.

He hit at the Liberals also with charges that they encouraged inflation, curtailed parliamentary and personal liberties and threatened Canada with becoming a one-party state.

St. Laurent's forces had urged continuance of a regime they said had brought Canada unprecedented prosperity. The Liberals said the Tory program would raise taxes, not cut them, and that the Tory charges of infringement of liberties were "tommyrot."

The Liberals not only lost the election, but 9 of their 17 Cabinet members were swept out of Parliament. The only top Liberal leader to remain were the 75-year-old St. Laurent and Foreign Secretary Lester B. Pearson.

One of those defeated was Finance Minister Walter Harris, frequently mentioned along with Pearson as a possible successor to St. Laurent as Liberal leader. Another was veteran Trade Minister C. D. Howe, often credited with being the most powerful man in the government.

Crabb, a romantic and mysterious British war hero, vanished 14 months ago after diving near the Soviet cruiser Ordzhonikidze in nearby Portsmouth Harbor.

The ship had brought Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev on a visit to Britain.

A spokesman at U. S. Navy headquarters denied a report published in the Daily Express that Crabb was carrying out an intelligence assignment for the United States. The Express said Crabb made a deal to find out what he could about antisubmarine and antifrogman devices on the 12,800-ton Russian warship.

The Russians protested at the snooping done around their cruiser. Sir Anthony Eden, then prime minister, said the British government had not authorized such a dive and promised disciplinary action would be taken against those responsible. Eden refused to discuss the mystery in the House of Commons, hinting that to do so would stir up international complications.

Train Hits Truck, 12 Workers Killed

ROCKY FORD, Colo. (AP)—A truck carrying 18 Mexican field workers was struck by a train west of Vroman this morning, killing 12 persons.

The victims included the driver, Sylvester Liano of Rocky Ford.

The 18 aboard the truck included men, women and children. The train was a Santa Fe freight.

Italian Chief Seeks Another New Premier

ROME (AP)—President Giovanni Gronchi today started a search for a new Christian Democratic premier to lead Italy out of the most bewildering political jungle in its postwar history.

Gronchi scheduled a series of consultations with party leaders after the resignation Monday night of 69-year-old Adone Zoli, who refused to remain in office because his 22-day-old minority government was dependent on Fascist votes in Parliament.

Youth, 17, Is Wounded And 3 Companions Held For Stealing Gasoline

A 17-year-old Union Township boy was hit in the back with about a dozen buckshot pellets as he attempted to flee Joe Bryant, irate White Rd. farmer, from whom he and three companions allegedly were stealing gasoline about 3 a. m. Tuesday.

The four were placed under arrest after they were caught about 3:30 a. m. near Washington C. H.

The shooting victim was described in "satisfactory condition" at Memorial Hospital where he was being treated for wounds.

Resting in county jail were his three companions, a 17-year-old and two 19-year-olds, Charles Jackson and Bill Smith. All four live in Union Township.

All were charged with petty larceny. About five gallons of gasoline, allegedly taken from a barn on Bryant's farm was reported in the tank of the pickup truck they were driving.

JACKSON AND SMITH will appear in Municipal Court Wednesday. Juvenile Court hearings for the two 17-year-olds will be set later.

Bryant said his wife was up caring for their 2-year-old son about 3 a. m. when she heard noises from the farm building area across the road.

She awakened her husband, who went out and shouted at the boys to halt, then fired at a distance of about 50 feet as they clambered aboard their truck.

Bryant then notified the sheriff's office. Deputy Donald Thompson requested aid from the city police department and Patrolmen Charles Long and Lang Laytard stopped the pickup truck on the CCC Highway a few minutes later.

Bryant said gas had been stolen from his farm pump "often" during the past few months.

Ohio Wheat To Average 28 Bushels

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department Monday forecast that Ohio wheat farmers will grow an average of 28 bushels of wheat on 1,404,000 acres under the federal wheat control program, a total yield of 39,312,000 bushels.

The department forecast this year's nationwide wheat crop at 970,533,000 bushels.

This estimate is the first for the full crop and is 26,674,000 bushels less than the 997,207,000 bushels produced last year. It is considerably below the 10-year (1946-55) average of 1,131,000,000 bushels.

This year's wheat crop is being grown on one of the smallest acreages in many years. Government crop control measures and the new soil bank land retirement program curtailed plantings in steps to prevent production of additional surplus supplies.

The winter wheat crop was forecast at 735,270,000 bushels compared with 703,208,000 indicated a month ago. Production was 734,995,000 bushels last year and 862,471,000 for the 10-year average.

The spring wheat crop was estimated at 234,813,000 bushels. This is the first forecast of the year. Production was 262,212,000 last year and 268,529,000 for the 10-year average.

Escaped Mental Patient Gives Cops Spine-Tingling Thrill

CLEVELAND (AP)—East Cleveland police had a spine-tingling five minutes late Monday when they were visited by a 35-year-old mental patient who had threatened to blow up the suburb's police headquarters.

The man walked in, calmly holding a hand grenade in one hand and a paper bag in the other. He said the bag contained six sticks of dynamite.

Officers used their most persuasive arguments to talk the man out of his mission. He finally admitted that the grenade was a dud and the bag was empty.

The mentally sick Cleveland, an ex-paratrooper, was returned to Cleveland State Hospital. He had escaped from the hospital a week ago.

Roy Penwell Found Guilty

Youth Sentenced To State Reformatory

Roy Penwell, 19, is now in the county jail under sentence of one to 15 years in the state reformatory at Mansfield for breaking and entering the McCoy Service Station, 1537 N. North St., with intent to commit larceny the night of Feb. 25.

Penwell was found "guilty of burglary as charged in the indictment" by a jury of eight men and four women in Common Pleas Court here Monday afternoon. The trial lasted only one day.

The case was given to the jury at 3:45 p. m. and 50 minutes later it brought in its guilty verdict.

Witnesses for the state were Raymond Miller, Richard Self, Lowell McCoy and Deputy Sheriff Don Thompson, who arrested Penwell.

Witnesses for Penwell were his mother and grandmother, Lorena Penwell and Verna Graves, and Jack Lightle.

PENWELL only smiled when the jury verdict was read. Harry Jacks was foreman of the jury.

Sheriff Orland Hayes said Penwell would be taken to the reformatory to begin his sentence as soon as the final entry filed with the clerk of courts and the papers for his commitment are prepared.

Penwell pleaded guilty when arraigned in Municipal Court. He was bound over to the grand jury, which later indicted him.

When he came to trial, he sought to establish an alibi and to show he was not at the service station when it was entered. Pleas of his attorney for leniency fell on deaf ears of the jury.

300 Tank Truck Drivers Halt Sohio Deliveries

CLEVELAND (AP)—Three hundred tank truck drivers today halted deliveries of Standard Oil Co. (Ohio) products by refusing cross picket lines of the striking Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union.

The refusal followed suspension by the company of three officers of the Independent Petroleum Workers Union, which represents the drivers.

Regional Director Robert P. Buchanan of the Oil Workers said the three men asked for time off for union business and were suspended. He said when drivers decided not to cross the picket lines, 10 other drivers were suspended.

Students Cut Up, Prexy Says 'Sap Began To Rise'

CLEVELAND (AP)—"The sap began to rise," explained President Alfred B. Bond Jr. today after about 10 Baldwin-Wallace College seniors engaged in pre-commencement hijinks on the campus in suburban Berea Monday night.

By 4:30 a. m., the students had: rung the chapel bell at 11 p. m., calling the seniors to convalesce.

Removed several hundred chairs and tables from classrooms and arranged them in neat patterns in the parking lots.

Set fire to a couple of trash cans in the middle of Seminary street in front of the chapel.

Hung chairs from fire escapes and piled them in totem pole designs on the campus.

Ike OK, Shows Up At His Office

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower, "virtually recovered" from his stomach upset, returned to his White House office today at about 10 a. m.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told newsmen Eisenhower intended to "sign some letters and do some work," but that he did not know how long the office visit would last.

Eisenhower's appearance on the job came less than an hour after a morning medical bulletin which had reported him "virtually recovered" but said his office engagements for the day were canceled again.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said that the doctors described as "mild" the upset which struck the 66-year-old Eisenhower Sunday night.

AT A NEWS conference late Monday, Hagerty repeated that the physicians found "no indication" that Eisenhower's illness was in any way related to his 1955 heart attack or his ileitis seizure (inflammation and partial blockage of the small intestine) a year ago last Saturday. That seizure required major abdominal surgery June 9, 1956.

The statement was prepared by Col. Thomas W. Mattingly, Walter Reed Army Hospital heart specialist; Maj. Gen. Leonard D. Heaton, Walter Reed commandant; and Maj. Gen. Howard Snyder.

Mattingly was called to Denver when Eisenhower was stricken with a coronary thrombosis in 1955. Heaton operated on the President for ileitis last year.

In announcing Monday morning that Eisenhower had developed an upset stomach Sunday and was confined to bed, the White House said the distress apparently had been caused by something he ate.

There still was no definite word on what the President did have to eat Sunday and the rest of the weekend. The only word was that he had at least one piece of blueberry pie Sunday evening, and that he had eaten some "fairly rich food" recently.

THE DOCTORS have had Eisenhower on mainly a fat-free diet since his heart attack, but Hagerty said the President had strayed off the diet to some extent.

Hagerty said he had received some inquiries as to whether Eisenhower's illness may have been caused by ptomaine poisoning.

"The doctors say that is not true," he said.

He added that he had found that on Sunday Mrs. Eisenhower and the President "ate pretty much the same" kind of food, and that the First Lady was not ill.

Mrs. Corradetti told Hunt that two more divorces had "taken all clear now," she said.

She was released May 1 from jail at Richmond, Ind., after a 90-day term for bigamy.

Argument Over Girls Ends in Fatal Beating

CLEVELAND (AP)—An argument between two 22-year-old East Side men over a 17-year-old girl resulted in one of them being hit and fatally injured with a baseball bat, police reported.

John T. Dodson died today in St. Alexis Hospital nearly six hours after being struck.

The second man, being held by police, was quoted as saying he stopped Dodson after seeing the girl riding in a car with Dodson. He told police he thought Dodson had a gun.

Bloodmobile Collects 108 Pints Here Monday

Fayette Countians gave 108 pints of blood to the Red Cross Blood bank, while the mobile unit was at the First Presbyterian Church here Monday from 9:30 a. m. until 4 p. m.

This was 67 pints short of the 175-pint quota set for this third visit of the Bloodmobile here this year.

Through the donor recruiting efforts of the Fayette County Professional Nurses' Assn., 110 appointments were made. Nineteen others came without appointments. Eleven of the 19 volunteers were rejected after examinations by physicians.

Of the 108 donors, 45 gave for the first time. Monroe C. Clellan gave his 12th pint to become a member of the exclusive three-gallon Club.

Twenty-eight pints were given as replacements for blood previously given from the blood bank to friends or relatives.

Forty-five physicians, nurse and staff aides put in a total of 198 hours at the bloodmobile.

Girard Aides Claim Rights Being Curbed

Government Contends Federal Court Not Eligible To Decide

WASHINGTON (AP)—Attorneys for William S. Girard argued today the GI is "clearly entitled" to a court order to prevent him from being tried by Japanese courts. But the government contended the federal courts have no authority to intervene.

Earl J. Carroll, chief defense attorney for the Army specialist who faces trial in Japan in the killing of a Japanese woman, said that never before had an American soldier been turned over to a foreign country for trial for an act committed in performance of official duty.

U. S. Atty. Oliver Gasch argued on the other hand that the decision to turn Girard over to the Japanese was a proper one for the executive branch of the government, and that the courts have no authority to review it.

These legal angles of the case which has stirred an international furor were argued in a packed U. S. district courtroom.

Carroll also contended that he was entitled to State and Defense Department documents bearing on the case "whether classified or non-classified" — secret or non-secret.

CARROLL ARGUED that the Senate, in ratifying the U. S.-Japanese peace treaty and a companion security treaty, never intended that U. S. servicemen be submitted to foreign countries for trial for any act connected with official duty.

He contended the maneuver area on which the Japanese woman was fatally injured while scavenging for metal clearly was under U. S. control, thereby barring his trial by Japan.

Carroll said the decision to turn Girard over to Japan was made "in contravention of his rights under the Constitution and international law."

Carroll quoted from a newspaper story quoting Robert Dechert, Defense Department general counsel, as saying that in firing the shell case which killed the woman, Girard acted in a "complete departure" from duty.

The story also quoted Dechert as referring to an apparent enticement of women scrap collectors into the area. Girard had denied any enticement, saying the woman's death was accidental.

Carroll contrasted Dechert's reported comments with a sealed affidavit from the Pentagon which Gasch said had been put under wraps "solely for the protection" of Girard. He said the government did not wish to risk any "prejudice" to the soldier's defense.

Carroll said the government delivered a "low blow" by sending one government lawyer into court with a "guarded document" and letting another "go before the press" with the statements attributed to Dechert.

JUDGE JOSEPH C. McGarraghy said he would decide whether to take the secrecy cover off the document and would be guided largely by the wishes of Girard's counsel.

Gasch conceded, in reply to a question by Judge McGarraghy, that Girard killed the Japanese woman in "performance of official duty."

He contended, however, that under an agreement between the United States and Japan the two countries had concurrent jurisdiction under which either could waive jurisdiction in favor of the other.

"We take the position that Waiver is an executive act, not subject to judicial inquiry," Gasch said.

Gasch said in effect that the habeas corpus petition was the wrong judicial action since Girard is not seeking release from Army custody, but merely seeking to prevent being tried in a Japanese court.

Italian Chief Seeks Another New Premier

ROME (AP)—President Giovanni Gronchi today started a search for a new Christian Democratic premier to lead Italy out of the most bewildering political jungle in its postwar history.

Gronchi scheduled a series of consultations with party leaders after the resignation Monday night of 69-year-old Adone Zoli, who refused to remain in office because his 22-day-old minority government was dependent on Fascist votes in Parliament.

Some wanted to try to stall off a showdown vote as long as possible while others favored an attempt to force a quick test.

Despite the uncertainty, it appeared likely that the bill would clear the House late this week. It would then go to the Senate, where Southerners have succeeded in blocking action in past years and are confident they can do so again.

General debate on the bill ended Monday, and it was voted on amendments today.

The measure, backed by the administration, is designed generally to protect voting and other civil rights. It includes a provision which would permit the attorney general to seek a federal court injunction in any case where he thinks such rights are being or are about to be violated.

SOUTHERNERS have concentrated on including an amendment to guarantee jury trials in their home courts for persons cited for contempt for violating such federal injunctions.

The Senate Judiciary Committee already has voted to include such a provision in its version of the bill.

Sponsors of the bill are against the jury trial proposal on the ground it would nullify the purpose of the legislation. They contend Southern juries just wouldn't return guilty verdict in such cases.

Southerners have argued that without the jury trial protection, the Justice Department could obtain injunctions almost at will and effect the imprisonment without trial of persons violating the injunctions. This, they insist, breaches the constitutional ban against loss of liberty without due process of law.

Southern Democrats concede they need support from Northern Democrats and from Republicans if the amendment is to pass. Conservative estimates are that they need the votes of at least 70 Republicans and 10 or more Northern Democrats.

ALABAMA KLAN Chief Resigns

ATLANTA (AP)—The grand dragon of the Alabama Ku Klux Klan, has resigned amid the "turmoil and uproar" caused by his marriage to a teen-ager.

Alvin Horn of Talladega, 45-year-old father of six children by a wife who died several years ago, said he felt it best for the Klan, himself and his family to resign and had done so to "get all this turmoil and uproar off himself and the organization."

Eldon Lee Edwards of Atlanta, imperial wizard, U. S. Klans, Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, Inc., said publicly after the Alabama dragon's marriage to 15-year-old Barbara Richardson was "unfair, unjust and untrue."

Ike OK, Shows Up At His Office

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower, "virtually recovered" from his stomach upset, returned to his White House office today at about 10 a. m.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told newsmen Eisenhower intended to "sign some letters and do some work," but that he did not know how long the office visit would last.

Eisenhower's appearance on the job came less than an hour after a morning medical bulletin which had reported him "virtually recovered" but said his office engagements for the day were canceled again.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said that the doctors described as "mild" the upset which struck the 66-year-old Eisenhower Sunday night.

AT A NEWS conference late Monday, Hagerty repeated that the physicians found "no indication" that Eisenhower's illness was in any way related to his 1955 heart attack or his ileitis seizure (inflammation and partial blockage of the small intestine) a year ago last Saturday. That seizure required major abdominal surgery June 9, 1956.

The statement was prepared by Col. Thomas W. Mattingly, Walter Reed Army Hospital heart specialist; Maj. Gen. Leonard D. Heaton, Walter Reed commander; and Maj. Gen. Howard Snyder.

Mattingly was called to Denver when Eisenhower was stricken with a coronary thrombosis in 1955. Heaton operated on the President for ileitis last year.

In announcing Monday morning that Eisenhower had developed an upset stomach Sunday and was confined to bed, the White House said the distress apparently had been caused by something he ate.

There still was no definite word on what the President did have to eat Sunday and the rest of the weekend. The only word was that he had at least one piece of blueberry pie Sunday evening, and that he had eaten some "fairly rich food" recently.

THE DOCTORS have had Eisenhower on mainly a fat-free diet since his heart attack, but Hagerty said the President had strayed off the diet to some extent.

Hagerty said he had received some inquiries as to whether Eisenhower's illness may have been caused by ptomaine poisoning.

"The doctors say that is not true," he said.

He added that he had found that on Sunday Mrs. Eisenhower and the President "ate pretty much the same" kind of food, and that the First Lady was not ill.

Girard Aides Claim Rights Being Curbed

Government Contends Federal Court Not Eligible To Decide

WASHINGTON (AP)—Attorneys for William S. Girard argued today the GI is "clearly entitled" to a court order to prevent him from being tried by Japanese courts. But the government contended the federal courts have no authority to intervene.

Earl J. Carroll, chief defense attorney for the Army specialist who faces trial in Japan in the killing of a Japanese woman, said that never before had an American soldier been turned over to a foreign country for trial for an act committed in performance of official duty.

U. S. Atty. Oliver Gasch argued on the other hand that the decision to turn Girard over to the Japanese was a proper one for the executive branch of the government, and that the courts have no authority to review it.

These legal angles of the case which has stirred an international furor were argued in a packed U. S. district courtroom.

Carroll also contended that he was entitled to State and Defense Department documents bearing on the case "whether classified or non-classified" — secret or non-secret.

CARROLL ARGUED that the Senate, in ratifying the U. S.-Japanese peace treaty, never intended that U. S. servicemen be submitted to foreign countries for trial for any act connected with official duty.

He contended the maneuver area on which the Japanese woman was fatally injured while scavenging for metal cleared was under U. S. control, thereby barring his trial by Japan.

Carroll said the decision to turn Girard over to Japan was made "in contravention of his rights under the Constitution and international law."

Carroll quoted from a newspaper story quoting Robert Dechert, Defense Department general counsel, as saying that in firing the shell case which killed the woman, Girard acted in a "complete departure" from duty.

The story also quoted Dechert as referring to an apparent enticement of women scrap collectors into the area. Girard has denied any enticement, saying the woman's death was accidental.

Carroll contrasted Dechert's reported comments with a sealed affidavit from the Pentagon which Gasch said had been put under wraps "solely for the protection" of Girard. He said the government did not wish to risk any "prejudice" to the soldier's defense.

Carroll said the government delivered a "low blow" by sending one government lawyer into court with a "guarded document" and letting another "go before the press" with the statements attributed to Dechert.

JUDGE JOSEPH C. McGarraghy said he would decide whether to take the secrecy cover off the document and would be guided largely by the wishes of Girard's counsel.

Gasch conceded, in reply to a question by Judge McGarraghy, that Girard killed the Japanese woman in "performance of official duty."

He contended, however, that under an agreement between the United States and Japan the two countries had concurrent jurisdiction under which either could waive jurisdiction in favor of the other.

"We take the position that Waiver is an executive act, not subject to judicial inquiry," Gasch said.

Gasch said in effect that the habeas corpus petition was the wrong judicial action since Girard is not seeking release from Army custody, but merely seeking to prevent being tried in a Japanese court.

4-H Enrollment Increase Noted

Only Dairy and Swine Projects Show Drop

A 5 per cent increase in 4-H club enrollment in Fayette County was reported for this year by the 4-H Council at its regular meeting Monday night in the Extension Service office. This, it was said, was the measure of increase set by the Council for its goal.

The biggest increase was noted in the nutrition projects. Minor increases were reported in the clubs with projects in steer finding, saddle horses, sheep, home furnishings and let's sew. Decreases were noted in clubs with dairy cattle and swine as their projects.

A total of 862 boys and girls are carrying 1,264 homemaking and agricultural projects this year. In 1956, there were 818 boys and girls with a total of 1,132 different projects.

Some of the projects with the 1957 enrollment compared with 1956, show the following trend:

1957	1956
Let's Sew	150 100
Steer Feeding	68 39
Home Furnishings	75 37
Saddle Horse	27 11
Sheep	67 60
Dairy	20 29
Swine	86 102

A new nutrition project "Good Foods For Snacking and Packing", which became available this year, has 168 girls enrolled. The comparable projects of last year had 125 girls participating.

THE JUNIOR 4-H camp was discussed. According to Associate Agent Phil Grover, enrollment to date shows approximately 150 boys and girls will be spending the week of June 17-22 at Camp Clifton.

The 4-H camp committee has selected a faculty of 19 junior leaders and 4-H advisors to assist the Extension Service staff during camp week.

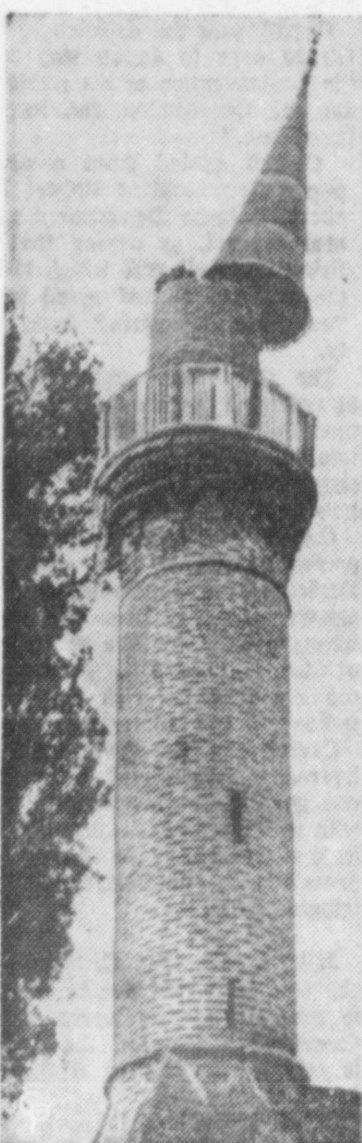

The latest information concerning health improvement contest was given to the Council members, but plans are still indefinite and in the formative stage. However, it appears that the medical examination will be given by the members of the Fayette County Medical Assn. during the third week of July.

The health committee of Council urged 4-H clubs to step up their efforts along health improvement lines. More information will be sent to each 4-H club when it becomes available.

Mrs. Frank Dill presided over the meeting and Mrs. Walter Carman gave the secretary's report.

CINCINNATI (AP)—Dr. C. V. Courter, superintendent of city schools, has submitted to the Board of Education a record budget of $24,645,201 for 1958.

Coleman Rap At O'Neill Said Untrue

COLUMBUS (AP)—Attorney Paul R. Gingham today said it is "totally untrue" that Gov. C. William O'Neill, while attorney general, delayed the case of an insurance company because of a "conflict of interests."

The accusation was made Monday by William L. Coleman, state Democratic chairman. Coleman said O'Neill's private interest was a family-owned insurance agency at Marietta which is an agent for the Equitable Life Assurance Society.

In 1950, Atty. Gen. Herbert S. Duffy ruled the company's home loan practices were illegal. O'Neill succeeded Duffy.

Coleman said it was O'Neill's duty to prosecute the case for the State Insurance Department but a seven-year delay resulted.

Gingham was named by O'Neill as special counsel to the attorney general to conduct the case and still is. He said Coleman's statement "has no foundation in fact."

Gingham said the case has been tried and the court is awaiting further briefs before making a decision.

The disputed plan offers mortgage loans on the condition that the borrower take a like amount of life insurance naming the insurance company beneficiary.

Graham Uses Parables To Stress Points

NEW YORK (AP)—To put across his points, the Rev. Dr. Billy Graham relies on the parable.

Each night at his big-scale New York crusade which today rounds out its fourth week he weaves little tales of modern life to illustrate ancient lessons.

Monday night, for instance, in maintaining that you have to have the right attitude toward Christ, not just a sincere attitude, Rev. Mr. Graham told some stories:

One was about the football player who ran 65 yards with the ball "with complete sincerity," but he lost the game because he ran the wrong direction.

Another was about the mother who "in all sincerity" gave her son medicine to cure him, but made him even sicker because she mistakenly gave him iodine.

"Many people that are sincere are desperately wrong when it comes to the matter of going to Heaven," he told a crowd of 16,500 at Madison Square Garden.

"Following the conscience can be wrong because the conscience may be seared and dead if it's not in Christ. You choose either to follow Christ, or you go your own way . . . the way of self, of pride, of ego."

To choose Christ's way, he added, is a "bending of the will, a subjugation of the ego" by which Christ sensitizes the conscience.

Affidavit of Disqualification Hearing for Judge Case June 18

Judge John P. Case is to appear before Chief Justice Carl V. Weygant of the Ohio Supreme Court at 2 p. m. next Tuesday, June 18, in support of an affidavit of disqualification he filed against Judge William C. Wiseman and Judge Roscoe G. Hornbeck of the Court of Appeals to prevent them hearing a petition for a writ of prohibition filed against him in the appellate court last week by Mrs. Beverly Clickner Walls.

Mrs. Walls is under indictment for embezzlement of $9,874 from the Washington, C. H. High School activity fund.

In her amended petition, filed last week with the Court of Appeals, Mrs. Walls asked that Judge Case be prohibited from taking any action in the case against her, including taking a deposition from John A. Trace, principal of the high school during part of the time when the alleged embezzlement took place.

Judge Case had set Tuesday (today) for taking the deposition after Trace resigned a week ago to accept the position of director of education of Guam. He plans to leave here early next month for the Pacific island.

JUDGE CASE said Tuesday morning he had received no order from the Court of Appeals restraining him from taking Trace's deposition and added that, unless word is received before 2 p. m., it would be taken.

In his affidavit of disqualification against Judge Wiseman and Judge Hornbeck, Judge Case contended they have an "interest, bias, and prejudice (in the case) within the meaning of the Revised Code of Ohio."

Word that he is to appear before Justice Seygant next Tuesday in support of the affidavit came to Judge Case late Monday through Mrs. Dorothy West, clerk of the Common Pleas Court here, who was notified by Justice Weygant by telephone.

Coleman Rap At O'Neill Said Untrue

COLUMBUS (AP)—Attorney Paul R. Gingham today said it is "totally untrue" that Gov. C. William O'Neill, while attorney general, delayed the case of an insurance company because of a "conflict of interests."

The accusation was made Monday by William L. Coleman, state Democratic chairman. Coleman said O'Neill's private interest was a family-owned insurance agency at Marietta which is an agent for the Equitable Life Assurance Society.

In 1950, Atty. Gen. Herbert S. Duffy ruled the company's home loan practices were illegal. O'Neill succeeded Duffy.

Coleman said it was O'Neill's duty to prosecute the case for the State Insurance Department but a seven-year delay resulted.

Gingham was named by O'Neill as special counsel to the attorney general to conduct the case and still is. He said Coleman's statement "has no foundation in fact." Gingham said the case has been tried and the court is awaiting further briefs before making a decision.

The disputed plan offers mortgage loans on the condition that the borrower take a like amount of life insurance naming the insurance company beneficiary.

Bingo Cards Included In Cornerstone

LITTLE CHUTE, Wis. (AP)—Bingo card No. 765, a survivor of a state raid on a bingo party here last April, was included in mementos sealed into the cornerstone of the new St. John's Catholic High School.

Graham Uses Parables To Stress Points

NEW YORK (AP)—To put across his points, the Rev. Dr. Billy Graham relies on the parable.

Each night at his big-scale New York crusade which today rounds out its fourth week he weaves little tales of modern life to illustrate ancient lessons.

Monday night, for instance, in maintaining that you have to have the right attitude toward Christ, not just a sincere attitude, Rev. Mr. Graham told some stories:

One was about the football player who ran 65 yards with the ball "with complete sincerity," but he lost the game because he ran the wrong direction.

Another was about the mother who "in all sincerity" gave her son medicine to cure him, but made him even sicker because she mistakenly gave him iodine.

"Many people that are sincere are desperately wrong when it comes to the matter of going to Heaven," he told a crowd of 16,500 at Madison Square Garden.

"Following the conscience can be wrong because the conscience may be seared and dead if it's not in Christ. You choose either to follow Christ, or you go your own way... the way of self, of pride, of ego."

To choose Christ's way, he added, is a "bending of the will, a subjugation of the ego" by which Christ sensitizes the conscience.

Mrs. Walls is under indictment for embezzlement of $9,874 from the Washington C. H. High School activity fund.

In her amended petition, filed last week with the Court of Appeals, Mrs. Walls asked that Judge Case be prohibited from taking any action in the case against her, including taking a deposition from John Trace, principal of the high school during part of the time when the alleged embezzlement took place.

Judge Case had set Tuesday (today) for taking the deposition after Trace resigned a week ago to accept the position of director of

Affidavit of Disqualification Hearing for Judge Case June 18

Judge John P. Case is to appear before Chief Justice Carl V. Weygant of the Ohio Supreme Court at 2 p. m. next Tuesday, June 18, in support of an affidavit of disqualification he filed against Judge William C. Wiseman and Judge Roscoe G. Hornbeck of the Court of Appeals to prevent them hearing a petition for a writ of prohibition filed against him in the appellate court last week by Mrs. Beverly Clickner Walls.

Mrs. Walls is under indictment for embezzlement of $9,874 from the Washington C. H. High School activity fund. In her amended petition, filed last week with the Court of Appeals, Mrs. Walls asked that Judge Case be prohibited from taking any action in the case against her, including taking a deposition from John Trace, principal of the high school during part of the time when the alleged embezzlement took place.

Judge Case had set Tuesday (today) for taking the deposition after Trace resigned a week ago to accept the position of director of education of Guam. He plans to leave here early next month for the Pacific island.

JUDGE CASE said Tuesday morning he had received no order from the Court of Appeals restraining him from taking Trace's deposition and added that, unless word is received before 2 p. m., it would be taken.

In his affidavit of disqualification against Judge Wiseman and Judge Hornbeck, Judge Case contended they have an "interest, bias, and prejudice (in the case) within the meaning of the Revised Code of Ohio."

Word that he is to appear before Justice Seydant next Tuesday in support of the affidavit came to Judge Case late Monday through Mrs. Dorothy West, clerk of the Common Pleas Court here, who was notified by Justice Weygant by telephone.

WHAT YOU WANT -- IS IN WASHINGTON C. H.

Oftentimes The Word Had Better Be 'No'.

The people who have some extra money to invest always will find it safer in the long run to consult a banker, an attorney or a reputable and well known professional investment salesman or broker, than to seize upon an offer "confidentially" made which indicates big and quick returns.

That is a policy long advocated by the best people doing a legitimate business along this line and most individuals follow such a course. However, every now and then one learns of some "sucker" deal which causes wonder that people "fall" for an offer of quick profits.

Maybe this is because we are living in a high-powered age. That doesn't just apply to all the energy used in our business enterprises or to the amazing number of mechanical horses the engineers have managed to harness beneath the hoods of automobiles.

It applies to a certain class of stock salesmen, whose offerings consist of shares which, according to the sales talk, are dead certain to double or triple or quadruple in value in practically no time.

These salesmen are expert at clipping the gullible and the greedy, an article in

That article also proposes a series of apt questions you might ask when you are approached by someone eager to make you rich in a hurry.

One good question is, "If this stock is going to be worth $2 in 60 days, why are you selling it to me for 50 cents?" Another is, "If this mine is so jam-packed with such high grade uranium ore, why can't you make a quick fortune by offering it to a single metal refining corporation, instead of peddling the stock for pennies all over the country?" Still another is, "When did I get so lucky that I should be selected to share in this tremendous bonanza?"

The big point can be put in a phrase: Investigate before you invest! The stock exchanges, government agencies, and others are doing their best to protect you, but they can't do it all. Before buying any stock, talk to a reputable broker and get the fullest possible information. As The Exchange says, "Yours must be the final word... Unless you're willing to find out exactly what you're buying, and from whom, that final word had better be NO!"

Marilyn Monroe Prizes Her Bed

NEW YORK (AP)—Marilyn Monroe says blondes have a woe that other women are spared.

"If you're a blonde," she muses, "it is considered that you have to be told what to do, that someone else has to decide things for you."

Miss Monroe today certainly has no chip on her shoulder. But she has made it abundantly clear that, whenever her mind is to be made up, she'd like to pitch in and help, too.

When I first met Marilyn several years ago, she was an uncertain kid with an unsure foothold on fame, and I couldn't be sure whether she was frightened or amused by what was happening to her.

Today I had the same sensation of doubt. It is hard to figure whether Marilyn, who retains a kind of breathless, small girl quality, is scared inside herself—or secretly laughing at you because she's a step ahead of you, and knows it.

The interview was in her apartment. Marilyn entered as tousled and lovely as ever, and said:

"I'd rather not be asked whether I'm pregnant or not, or do discuss anything political or religious. Otherwise, I'll talk about anything."

Asked what she thought was the biggest public misconception about her, she laughed and replied:

"People identify me personally with the parts I play. It isn't so much that I mind, but it just isn't so. But I've played so many different parts by now they must be confused."

She said that she and her playwright husband, Arthur Miller, have "no present plans for a joint production," adding:

"He isn't writing anything for the screen. He's working on a play." She indicated she is still a bit mystified why some critics thought it uproariously funny a few years ago when she expressed an ambition to play the role of Grushenka in "The Brothers Karamazov."

"I was asked why I wanted to be highbrow," she recalled, "but I didn't. Most of those who thought my ambition funny had never read the book." "Grushenka was an earthy girl. Her name in Russian means 'Juicy Pear.' I love that!" "I'd still like to play Grushenka, with Marlon Brand, playing Dmitri. I'd go see that picture myself."

Who says this kid doesn't understand boxoffice?

Marlon feels the recent crowded years haven't basically changed her outlook.

"The thing I'm scared of most is myself," she said. "But I do feel I've grown both as an actress and a person, and I hope I'll keep growing."

"I never tried to be independent just to show my independence. It wasn't so much that I objected to doing one kind of role. I merely wanted the freedom to do other kinds of roles, too."

"Luxury doesn't mean much to me. Both my husband and I like to live simply."

In a childhood of hardship in which she moved from pillar to post Marilyn knew plenty of rugged lonely years. When I asked her if she was broke and friendless again, what she'd miss most in her present life of comfort, she thought hard, then said: "Not jewelry; I really don't care for it. Not expensive stockings; I could go bare-legged. Not a car, or fine food or a big house."

"It's a bed, I guess—a big comfortable bed. I'd hate ever to be so poor again that I didn't have a bed of my own."

The Business of Baseball

Baseball started as a sport and most authoritative information is that it is an American development of the English games of Cricket and Rounders.

Although it is incorrectly claimed that Abner Doubleday created the game, there is ample evidence that it was played before Doubleday was born.

The diamond, which really establishes the nature of the game, was first used in Hoboken, N. J., on June 19, 1846, and was devised by Alexander Cartwright of N. Y.

So far as can be learned, one of the first baseball clubs was the Knickerbocker baseball club which drafted the first set of rules between 1845-46; these were first used in a game between the Knickerbockers and the New York Nine. Henry Chadwick, who was editor of A.G. Spaulding's "Baseball Guide," was really the first man who became an authority on the game and whose judgements and opinions gave it the form which we now have.

Baseball must have been played in New England during Revolutionary days, as Rounders, by countless boys, but it was not until the New York form of the game became stabilized that it moved away from both Crickey and Pounders and became a game of its own—for a time, the national game of the United States, played by every growing boy in the country.

Probably, the greatest innovation in the New York game was the change from an oblong square to a diamond square, which added an element of swiftness to the runner and made the pitcher the most important player.

The first game played with an entrance fee was on July 20, 1858, when New Yorkers played Brooklynites at the Fashion race track on Long Island. The admission was 50 cents per person. The clubs had to pay rent for the grounds.

The gate was $750 and a profit was earned. This stimulated baseball tours for money and may be regarded as the beginning of professional baseball, although most of the players were still amateurs, earning their livings in some other way. However, it was in 1869, that the Cincinnati Red Stockings, an amateur ball club, decided to go professional and to pay players regular salaries.

The idea offended the country as ruining a sport, but the club went ahead and baseball became a business. Professional teams appeared in many cities and traveled the country.

It was out of these professional teams, members of the National Association of Baseball Players, that the major and minor leagues came to be organized, but there had to be an intermediary step which changed the nature of the game from a sport to a business, namely that individuals who guaranteed the costs and the player's salaries took over the clubs as private owners.

The next association was not of players but of clubs. It was organized in 1876 and was known as the National League of Professional Baseball Clubs.

This shift in emphasis made the game a private enterprise like selling shoes or suits or anything. It is this association which is the National League, one of the two major baseball groups.

In 1883, the umpires, who had served as gentlemen amateurs were put on fixed salaries and became employees of the National League. In January 1900 Ban Johnson organized the American League as the second major league.

The strictly business nature of the game was made clear in the early competition between the American and the National Leagues, the American League in some instances doubled players wages and gave them longer term contracts.

The National League went into court in 1901 to prevent players from jumping their contracts and courts in different states ruled differently.

The physical property of the clubs has naturally become obsolescent and requires rebuilding. Also the seating capacity is in some places inadequate to bring proper returns; for instance, the Yankees in New York have a stadium of 67,000 seats, but the

Cutting Down On Salt

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

FOR most of us, food would taste pretty flat without a little salt. But you never realize how much natural salt, or sodium, there is in various foods, until your doctor places you on a sodium-restricted diet.

Generally, our daily consumption of sodium in one form or another totals somewhere between three and six grams.

Cut Salt Intake

Simply by eliminating the use of salt in preparing the foods and at the table, you can cut this intake to between 1,000 and 1,500 milligrams, or a gram to a gram and a half.

For persons suffering congestive heart failure, high blood pressure, certain kidney diseases and other illnesses, even this amount may be too much. So the doctor will advise cutting down on sodium intake.

There's only one way to do it—confine the diet to foods with low sodium content.

Fruits and Vegetables

Raw fruits and vegetables will comprise a major portion of any such diet, because for the most part they contain insignificant amounts of sodium. They are especially desirable in a sodium-restricted diet, because they add flavor to a meal which might otherwise be lacking in taste. With other foods, however, you have to be careful.

Animal foods, in general, contain a fairly substantial amount of sodium. Consequently, you must consume such items as meat, poultry, fish, eggs and milk in restricted amounts.

Banned from Diet

Larger amounts of sodium are found in shellfish and organ meats, so they are usually banned.

The white of an egg contains considerably more sodium than does the yolk, and the dark meat of a chicken and other poultry has greater sodium content than does the white meat.

Use of salted bread and butter, of course, must be restricted. However, you don't have to go hungry on a salt-free diet. There are plenty of foods you can eat.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

Mrs. U. P.: My metabolism is extremely low. My doctor wishes to give me thyroid. However, I have had tuberculosis and am dubious about taking it.

Answer: Persons who have had tuberculosis and have a low metabolism are benefited by taking thyroid. You should be guided by your doctor.

From first to last, Chicago fans are loyal to their ball clubs — to the White Sox, first in the American league, and to the Cubs, last in the National.

Control of Christmas island, which is in the Indian ocean, is being transferred for free by Britain to the government of Australia. Who says there aren't Christmas gifts in June?

Midwestern cops nabbed a burglar when he became stuck in a vent while breaking into a tavern. Got caught twice, as it were!

Now the Army, we read, wants to launch a man-made moon, just like the Navy plans. When it comes to satellite competition the sky seems to be the limit.

A campus psychologist declares that bad spring weather helped cause those University of Illinois student riots. The poor, old weatherman—he gets blamed for everything, even college kid doings!

Giants have only 55,000 and the Dodgers 31,000.

It is the Giants and Dodgers who have been pressing for municipal subsidies. Attendance probably reached its height in the 1920's despite the increase of population since then.

For some reason, the game has not retained its popularity in recent decades, although there may be a return of interest due to the efforts of baseball fans to stimulate sand lot playing.

Perhaps the game needs a character like Christy Mathewson or Babe Ruth to give it the thrill of a magnificent personality.

Tribunal Upholds Teamster Official

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court has unanimously upheld the refusal of a Teamsters Union official to answer questions as to the whereabouts of records he refused to produce for a federal grand jury.

Reversing the contempt of court conviction of Joseph Curcio, of New York, secretary-treasurer of the international union, the tribunal held that forcing such a custodian of records "to testify orally as to the whereabouts of nonproduced records requires him to disclose the contents of his own mind."

Curcio had invoked the Fifth amendment privilege against self incrimination.

Oftentimes The Word Had Better Be 'No'.

The people who have some extra money to invest always will find it safer in the long run to consult a banker, an attorney or a reputable and well known professional investment salesman or broker, than to seize upon an offer "confidentially" made which indicates big and quick returns.

That is a policy long advocated by the best people doing a legitimate business along this line and most individuals follow such a course. However, every now and then one learns of some "sucker" deal which causes wonder that people "fall" for an offer of quick profits.

Maybe this is because we are living in a high-powered age. That doesn't just apply to all the energy used in our business enterprises or to the amazing number of mechanical horses the engineers have managed to harness beneath the hoods of automobiles.

It applies to a certain class of stock salesmen, whose offerings consist of shares which, according to the sales talk, are dead certain to double or triple or quadruple in value in practically no time.

These salesmen are expert at clipping the gullible and the greedy, an article in

That article also proposes a series of apt questions you might ask when you are approached by someone eager to make you rich in a hurry.

One good question is, "If this stock is going to be worth $2 in 60 days, why are you selling it to me for 50 cents?" Another is, "If this mine is so jam-packed with such high grade uranium ore, why can't you make a quick fortune by offering it to a single metal refining corporation, instead of peddling the stock for pennies all over the country?" Still another is, "When did I get so lucky that I should be selected to share in this tremendous bonanza?"

The big point can be put in a phrase: Investigate before you invest! The stock exchanges, government agencies, and others are doing their best to protect you, but they can't do it all. Before buying any stock, talk to a reputable broker and get the fullest possible information. As The Exchange says, "Yours must be the final word . . . Unless you're willing to find out exactly what you're buying, and from whom, that final word had better be NO!"

Marilyn Monroe Prizes Her Bed

Prosecution Hinted Facing Indiana Deal

High Land Profits Noted in Senate Road Investigation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.) said today he is sending to the Justice Department testimony linking Maurice A. Hutcheson, president of the 850,000-member Carpenters Union, with high land profits on an Indiana highway project.

Evidence presented before a Senate Roads subcommittee headed by Gore also involved two other top officers of the Carpenters Union and two former officials of the Indiana Highway Department.

The three union officials invoked the Fifth Amendment Monday in refusing to tell about allegedly splitting some $80,000 profits on a quick turnover of right-of-way land near Gary, Ind. for an Indiana expressway, a federal-state project. The two former highway officials had similarly refused to answer other questions earlier in the probe.

"The evidence," Gore reported, "seems to support an evident conspiracy to defraud both federal and state governments."

HE SAID HE was transmitting transcripts of the hearing to the Justice Department, the federal district attorney in Indiana, the prosecutor of Lake County, and to Gov. Harold Handley.

Besides possible court prosecution, Hutcheson also may face ouster as an AFL-CIO vice president and Executive Council member.

In his subcommittee appearance Monday, Hutcheson testified he had never used Carpenters Union funds "for anything except brotherhood business since I have been in office." He has headed the Carpenters for about three years, since death of his father, William (Big Bill) Hutcheson.

The AFL-CIO has an ethical practices code stating that any union official taking the Fifth Amendment on matters of corruption cannot continue in his position.

George Meany, AFL-CIO president, said Monday night, "I will bring this matter to the attention of the Executive Council at the earliest opportunity." The council's next scheduled meeting is in Chicago next August.

The two other Carpenters Union officials invoking the Fifth Amendment Monday along with Hutcheson were Frank M. Chapman, general treasurer, and O. William Blaier, second vice president.

VIRGIL W. SMITH, former chairman of the Indiana Highway Department, and Harry V. Doggett, former chief land buyer for the department, had invoked the Fifth Amendment in earlier hearings in refusing to testify. They are under indictment in connection with the right-of-way acquisitions.

It was testified the group bought parcels of land from owners who had no idea a highway was going to be built, and then sold the property to the state for four times what they had paid.

Proceeds checked in and out of Chapman's bank account, as traced by a bank official, were divided this way: $15,500 to Hutcheson, $26,968 to Chapman, $35,432.90 to Blaier, $15,800 to Doggett, and $15,500 to Smith.

884 Filipinos Killed by Flu

MANILA (AP) — An influenza epidemic, sweeping the Philippines since May, has killed 884 persons, a government official reported today. Acting Health Secretary Rafael Tumbokon said the disease has afflicted 300,800 Filipinos.

Officials said that a million persons in Formosa have contracted flu in the last few months, but only a few deaths have been reported there.

In London, a spokesman for the British Medical Council said today a vaccine capable of fighting the fast spreading Asian influenza epidemic is expected to be ready "within a few days."

Buckeye Girls State Readied

COLUMBUS (AP)—Buckeye Girls' State, opening Saturday on the campus of Capital University here, is expected to draw 720 high school girls from throughout Ohio.

Sponsored by the Ohio American Legion Auxiliary, the 11th consecutive session of the government training program for high school juniors will last until June 23. The program includes mock political campaigns, operation of state, county and city governmental offices to teach the functions of government, and addresses by Ohio governmental officials.

State Legislature Chided By Ohio Board of Education

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio Legislature came in for some mild criticism from the State Board of Education Monday night at the opening of the board's regular two-day monthly session. The meeting continues today.

Cuts in the board's budget request for the next biennium were the target of the board's legislative committee.

Francis W. Spicer of Akron, head of the committee, said that "due to budgetary limitations, the state board will not be able to render many services for which it has been assigned responsibility by law."

The board approved building aid grants totaling $761,400 for school districts in Ross, Licking and Perry counties. The grants included $448,000 for Paint Valley Local, Ross County, for a new high school; $183,400 for a new high school for Licking Valley Local, Licking County, and $130,000 for a new elementary building for Junction City - Jackson, Perry County.

The board postponed until July an evaluation of how much legislative cuts in the education budget will affect board operation.

Uncertain of its authority under a new bill approved by the Legislature, but not yet signed by the governor, the board asked State Supt. E. E. Holt to get an opinion from the attorney general on four points.

The bill provides that any graduate of a recognized college or university may get a teaching certificate to teach in non-tax supported schools. The board's questions included:

Can a teacher with such a certificate be subject to revocation of the certificate for acts of a "criminal, immoral or unprofessional nature?" Are teachers in non-tax supported schools who don't qualify for certificates under the law still subject to the certification standards of the state board? Is there any time limitation on certificates issued under the proposed law, or do they continue indefinitely?

The tract purchased by Burke is on the north side of the highway and adjoins the Rogers Trucking Co. and Carolina Motor Freight Co. depot on the west. It fronts 500 feet, or the highway and extends back about 700 feet.

The Board of the League of Women Voters met Friday morning with Mrs. Walter Craig at Cedarhurst. Nine members and a guest, Mrs. David Heusinkveld, of Cincinnati, state coordinator for the League, were present.

Mrs. John Case presided over the discussion on projects for the coming year and Mrs. Heusinkveld gave a talk on the state convention held recently in Toledo.

Coffee and sandwiches were served at noon. The next meeting will be Aug. 16.

The 125,000 members of the League of Women Voters are "the largest and most effective civic watchdogs this country ever had," reports Murray Teigh Bloom in a June Reader's Digest article, "Civic Watchdogs in High Heels," condensed from Together.

Most of them are housewives and mothers, yet they find time to keep a sharp eye on government. Members of the 1,000 local groups of the organization played a leading role in obtaining pure drinking water for Salt Lake City, modern sewage-treatment plants for St. Louis and slum clearance for Wilmington, Del.

They obtained a primary-election system for Connecticut, cleared the way for voting machines in Mississippi, and got rid of a slovenly purchasing system in a Texas county.

The League was founded in 1920, the year women won the right to vote, in order to help women use their suffrage wisely. They undertook to keep track of the way each legislator kept his promises.

"Politicians greeted the new group with a little scorn and much indifference," says the writer, "But the women quickly built up a remarkable volunteer organization along local, state and national lines. They led and won fights for stronger pure food and drug laws,

Those present were Mrs. Watson, Mrs. Bryant, Mrs. Pierson, Mrs. Wendell Barr and Mrs. Lew Smith.

Arrangements of pink peonies decorated the table. Those present were Mrs. I. L. Pumphrey, Mrs. John Boyer, Mrs. Dale Smith, Mrs. Dwight Martin, Mrs. Lloyd Fennig, Mrs. Samuel Wilson, Mrs. Dale Ward, Mrs. Charles Gibeau, and Mrs. William Lucas, all of this community; Mrs. Eugene Eyre of Leesburg, Mrs. Russell Lanman of Sabina, Mrs. Earl Burden of Columbus, Mrs. Robert Garland of Wilmington and Miss Ruth Engle of West Union.

Mrs. W. Craig Entertains At Cedarhurst
The Board of the League of Women Voters met Friday morning with Mrs. Walter Craig at Cedarhurst. Nine members and a guest, Mrs. David Heusinkveld, of Cincinnati, state coordinator for the League, were present.
Mrs. John Case presided over the discussion on projects for the coming year and Mrs. Heusinkveld gave a talk on the state convention held recently in Toledo.
During the coming year the state league will study "Ways of Meeting Costs of State and Local Government" and "Qualifications for Voting in Ohio." The national league will study "Federal Loyalty and Security Program" and "Conservation of Water."
Coffee and sandwiches were served at noon. The next meeting will be Aug. 16.

The 125,000 members of the League of Women Voters are "the largest and most effective civic watchdogs this country ever had," reports Murray Teigh Bloom in a June Reader's Digest article, "Civic Watchdogs in High Heels," condensed from Together.
Most of them are housewives and mothers, yet they find time to keep a sharp eye on government. Members of the 1,000 local groups of the organization played a leading role in obtaining pure drinking water for Salt Lake City, modern sewage-treatment plants for St. Louis and slum clearance for Wilmington, Del.
They obtained a primary-election system for Connecticut, cleared the way for voting machines in Mississippi, and got rid of a slovenly purchasing system in a Texas county.
The League was founded in 1920, the year women won the right to vote, in order to help women use their suffrage wisely. They undertook to keep track of the way each legislator kept his promises.
"Politicians greeted the new group with a little scorn and much indifference," says the writer, "But the women quickly built up a remarkable volunteer organization along local, state and national lines. They led and won fights for stronger pure food and drug laws, for the abolition of child labor in many states, for taking civil service jobs out of politics. Their support of the U. S. Children's Bureau helped it to become one of the greatest social agencies any government ever created."

Charitable Foundation Head Announces Three Committees
Cliff E. Hughes, new president of the Fayette County Charitable Foundation, has announced three committees he has named for some of the work to be done by the organization this year.
They are as follows: Investment Committee, J. Roush Burton, chairman, Arch O. Riber, Ford Ervin; Solicitation Committee, Ray Brandenburg, chairman, Forest F. Tipton, Mac Dews; Disbursement Committee, L. M. Hays, Robert M. Jefferson, Ralph Nisley.
Most of these members are reappointments, but in one or two cases new men have been placed by reason of former members assuming new duties for the organization.
The recent organization meeting of the Charitable Foundation named Joseph Peters who had held that post since the beginning of the organization and had expressed a desire to retire from the office. George Pensyl who had been secretary was chosen vice president and Robert Craig was elected as secretary.
Three directors whose terms expired this year were renamed. They are Ed Moser, Charles Fabb and Roush Burton.
Hughes said that plans are in the making for an active campaign in the future to acquaint the public with the purposes of the organization and to seek further contributions for its work which will be in the fields of health, social welfare, education, culture and for any other worthy specific purpose in which a donor may wish his contribution to be used.

Savings Bonds Still Rated Top U. S. Investment

Bankers Give Views; Some Dissents Heard In Newspaper Survey

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—The nation's safest investment risk—U. S. savings bonds—still have the blessing of nearly two thirds of the country's bankers as a good way to save.

Half of them say they feel a patriotic or moral duty to go on pushing their sales for the U. S. treasury. A third think the new higher interest rates will boost sales, which had been lagging.

These are the findings in replies of 500 bankers queried by the American Banker, daily newspaper of banking and credit. The question, however, brought some sharply worded dissents.

Many investors have been turning to other investment forms that pay higher returns—with the risks involved running all the way from small to frankly speculative.

Bankers have been selling and redeeming these bonds for the U. S. treasury without charge, during the war years out of patriotism, and since as a duty to help the government in its many post-war money needs and its desire to spread the federal debt among many individuals rather than concentrating it in the banks.

In a sense, savings bonds are in competition with the banks who handle them, since they would like to increase the total in the savings accounts they offer. These accounts, in many commercial banks, now bring 3 per cent. In many savings banks they now bring 3 1/4 per cent. Savings & Loan Assns. often pay higher rates than that. So do many corporate bonds and most home mortgages, while some common stocks returned still more.

Higher interest rates elsewhere caused redemptions of U. S. savings bonds to top sales by 1 1/2 billion dollars in the period between the start of the fiscal year July 1 and the time this spring when Congress gave the treasury power to lift the interest rates to 3 1/4 from 3 per cent.

The debate in financial circles over whether banks should go on advising customers to buy savings bonds led the paper to query the bankers.

Letters To Editor

EDITOR, RECORD-HERALD

In July of 1953 I came over to Washington C. H. to see what Washington C. H. stood for. It was a hot afternoon and as I came up Washington Ave. the beautiful trees were so soothing, and refreshing. I drove around town and what I saw I liked. I drove out to the Country Club and it was a beautiful thing to see.

This was on a Thursday afternoon. I moved to the hotel from Columbus for the weekend to see if I could find a house. I found one on Monday, called my wife and told her about it. I brought my wife, two children and a dachshund dog here for what we thought was a few months stay until we located in Columbus.

You know something, we never looked in Columbus.

We have spent almost four years here and loved every minute of it. To say we hate to leave is a gross understatement. We have made a host of friends. Not just passing friends but from our standpoint they are dear friends and friends that we shall always cherish, yes, even love.

We lived most of our lives in one town but, we now consider Washington C. H. our home.

We started out to say so long to our many friends, but, we just can't do it. It's too hard. So, may I take this opportunity on behalf of Margaret, Carolyn, Charlie "B" and myself to say to all of you, thanks a million for letting us be all of you.

We shall always remember all of you for making it possible for us to have four of the most wonderful and the happiest years of our lives. May the good Lord take a liking to all of you.

In closing again let me say thanks for everything and may I quote from another famous Arkansawyer, Gen. Douglas MacArthur: "We shall return."

Love to all

Pat Hingle Gets Around

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Pat Hingle's grandfather used to say, "In this country, you can always find the opportunity to work at whatever you want to do."

Pat is living proof of the philosophy. Only 33, he has been a soda jerk, gas station attendant, newspaper boy, farm hand, chauffeur, pants presser, fruit canner, catch-up factory worker, truck driver, shoe salesman, theater usher and actor.

As an actor, he's doing okay these days. He had a long run as the brother in "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof" on Broadway, made a hit in the movie "The strange one" and is now one of the stars in "No Down Payment" at 20th Century-Fox.

Pat's a good looking fellow with curly blond hair and a friendly manner. I asked him how he managed to cover so many lines of work.

"It's easy to do when you go on your own at an early age," he explained. "Because of family problems, I lived by myself from the time I was 14."

His mother was a schoolteacher and had to move where the work was. Thus he was born near Denver and went to schools in Chicago, Detroit and Atlanta. He started supporting himself in Weslaco, Tex.

Pat earned his way through school and started at the University of Texas. He enlisted in the Navy in 1942 and served through several major battles in the Pacific as a steam engineer aboard a destroyer.

Returning to the university, he enrolled as an advertising major—"since that seemed like a good way for a poor boy to get rich in a hurry." But he took up acting in some campus plays—"that's where the pretty girls were."

People. Places. and Things
Round about Fayette County

By B. E. KELLEY
I am told on good authority, that if the new four-lane freeway from Cleveland to Cincinnati crosses northern Fayette County, Rt. 28, or the Bloomingburg and Sedalia Rd., will be one of the main intersecting routes, in Fayette County.

My informant further states that Route 28 will become a four-lane highway from the CCC Highway to the new freeway north of Yatesville.

Another report states that Route 70, (Jeffersonville Rd.) may be the main intersecting route connecting Washington C. H. and the intersecting highways here, with the new freeway. However this report apparently is not as authentic as that concerning Route 38.

Anyway one of the north and south routes touching the freeway, with its limited access, connection, will come in for some radical changes under the big road building program being planned.

WHIPPOORWILL BELIEFS

The fact that the early planted corn is now "going to town" and some of it is nearly a foot high while much still remains to be planted, indicates that perhaps there is something in that old saying that "when you hear a whippoorwill it is time to plant corn."

This year the first whippoorwill was heard during the last days of April, according to Floyd Rea, of near Plano, who recently called my attention to the old saying and the fact that he had heard a whippoorwill late in April.

It is also recalled that there is another old belief that "if you have money in your pocket when you hear the first whippoorwill you will have money in your pocket throughout the year."

Rea said that a year or two ago a whippoorwill insisted upon making its weird night calls from the roof of his house, and did this for several nights—which is decidedly unusual.

COFFEY'S PARK

Some 30 years ago one of the popular recreation spots in the county was Coffey's Park, now owned by Ed Page, on the east bank of Rattlesnake Creek where Route 62 crosses the stream in Greene Township.

Before the park was established, a stone quarry had been worked in that area, leaving a sizeable

Bride-Groom Return Set

TV Slated To Carry Daily Marriages

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP)—Bride and Groom is coming back. After an absence of three years from the home screen, the marriage ceremony will receive a video treatment every Monday through Friday beginning July 1 over NBC-TV.

Singer Frank Parker and actor Robert Paige will serve as co-hosts of the program on which 2,340 couples were married during five years of radio and four years of television.

John Reddy, producer of the show throughout its long life, says Bride and Groom has but one object. "We try to give the ordinary American girl a chance to have a big wedding on television, just like Grace Kelly and Queen Elizabeth."

The idea is simple enough: a girl marries a guy before the TV audience and they are showered with all kinds of loot—refrigerators, toasters, swimming pools, a trip here or there. The only thing they forfeit is their freedom.

The hearts, flowers and booty implicit in the program made it a housewives' delight. There are all kinds of statistics available on the show—except the total gallons of joyful tears spilled by tired housewives in vicarious delight at attending a wedding.

On the other hand, one Long Island husband was arrested for his dissenting opinion on Bride and Groom. He grew so tired of his wife watching the program every day that he drew a 38 and scored a bull's-eye on their TV set. Not all males agreed with him, however. Inmates of San Quentin Prison voted it a daytime favorite.

Mohrhaus Verdict Upheld on Appeal

CINCINNATI (AP)—The first degree murder conviction of Robert V. Mohrhaus was affirmed Monday by the First District Court of Appeals.

Harry H. McIlwain, his attorney, announced that the case will be taken to the Ohio Supreme Court on grounds that the prosecution failed to show intent to kill.

Mohrhaus, 22, was convicted of beating and stabbing to death Mrs. Leona McCrocklin, on June 3, 1956, after breaking into her home.

Grains Shoot High On Ike's Illness

CHICAGO (AP)—A rally got underway in grain futures on the Board of Trade Monday on news that President Eisenhower had been stricken with an "upset stomach."

After gains of a cent or more, prices receded on profit-taking. Traders said the President's illness caused grains to move upward—just the opposite of reaction of the stock market. Authorities said thinking seemed to be that, with Democrats in power in Congress, higher price supports could result if the President should be ill for some time.

Goodrich Strike Threat Eliminated

AKRON (AP)—Threat of a strike by the 9,000 workers at the B. F. Goodrich Co. plant here has been eliminated by an agreement on a supplemental contract between the company and Local 5, United Rubber Workers.

Details of the agreement, subject to ratification by union members, were not announced, but the supplemental contract spells out in detail provisions covered in general in the company-wide pact signed April 15 following a 15-day strike.

Company and union negotiators conferred past the strike deadline Saturday after the discussions began to show progress.

Walter O'Keefe Still on Radio

Veteran Entertainer Shuns TV Programs

By CHARLES MERCER
AP Radio-TV Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Radio is still very much alive and so is Walter O'Keefe. This is demonstrable if you tune in on NBC radio's "Night line" on a Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday at 7:30 p. m.

The test of a true radio fan used to be one who recognized and enjoyed O'Keefe. It seemed he was all over the dial: "Magic Carpet," "The Rudy Vallee Show," "Town Hall Tonight," "Music Hall," "Double Or Nothing." He's as good on "Nightline" as he was 25 years ago.

Reminiscing about the days of "Double or Nothing" on radio, O'Keefe said that such ad libs as these just never appear on television:

O'Keefe (to the audience, about a bright little boy): "Here's a young man who's going some place."

"Boy: 'I just went.'"
O'Keefe (commenting on the hat of a lady guest): "I wish you people at home could see this lady's beautiful hat. It looks like the pattern on the rug in Hedy Lamar's bedroom."

Lady: "Well, lucky you."
When a man asked NBC for his biography, O'Keefe dropped down at a typewriter and wrote it himself—among other things he has been a newspaper columnist. It begins:

"On Aug. 18, 1900, Walter O'Keefe was born of poor but Irish parents. As Confucius say, 'No matter what you say about Walter O'Keefe, it is partly true.' His father, Michael, was unquestionably one of the best amateur entertainers in Hartford, Conn. Young Walter was one of those apprentice monsters who was a child singer from the time he was five until he was 12..."

For eight pages O'Keefe traces his fascinating climb onward and upward with the lively arts. With a little expansion, he could publish it as a book. And now that somebody has suggested it, he probably will.

Bees, wasps and hornets won't sting unless you strike at them or sit on them. That's what the Department of Entomology, university of Wisconsin says. They offer no proof.

FUGITIVES FROM THE FBI

GROVER CLEVELAND STONEBURNER

(In co-operation with J. Edgar Hoover, FBI Director, this newspaper is running a series of descriptive articles on criminals wanted by the FBI.)

GROVER CLEVELAND STONEBURNER is being sought by the FBI for unlawful flight to avoid confinement for the crime of attempted murder.

Stoneburner was sentenced on July 15, 1953, in Laramie, Wyo., to serve two to four years in the Wyoming State Penitentiary after being convicted of assault and battery with intent to commit murder in the second degree.

After being sent to the Wyoming State Hospital, Evanston, Wyo., on April 23, 1954, for observation as to his mental condition, Stoneburner escaped on July 14, 1954.

In a complaint filed before a U. S. Commissioner at Casper, Wyo., on Sept. 20, 1954, Stoneburner was charged with fleeing from the State of Wyoming to avoid confinement after conviction for the crime of attempted murder.

The fugitive's aliases include Wes C. Gear, G. C. Stoneburner, and Gover C. Stoneburner. He has been employed as barber, carpenter, farmer, laborer and taxicab driver. Reportedly carrying a revolver in his suitcase, Stoneburner should be considered extremely dangerous.

DESCRIPTION: Age, 72; Born, Vermilion County, Ill.; Height, 5 feet 7 inches; Weight, 178 to 195; Build, stocky; Hair, gray; Eyes, blue; Complexion, medium. Has scar on right cheek, surgical scar center of abdomen, scar right side of buttock. Speaks in falsetto tone, when sitting continually shifts feet, has arthritis in right hand, wears glasses and has two upper front teeth missing.

INFORMATION concerning fugitive should be telephoned to the nearest FBI office. Distributed by King Features Syndicate

O'Neill Cites Need For New Colleges

OXFORD (AP)—Gov. C. William O'Neill told the Miami University graduating class Monday that Ohio must have more colleges, and increased facilities to assure college education for every citizen in Ohio.

He said "there is not now equality of educational opportunity beyond the high school level in Ohio. In Franklin County, 43 to every 100 young people of college age go to college. In Butler County, only 17 of every 100; Adams County, only 6 and in Lawrence County only 5. Tests indicate there is not this great disparity in ability among students from different geographical areas. Reasons are clear: 'Lack of motivation, lack of funds, lack of facilities and faculty.'"

TV Salesgirl Recalls Boners

Mary Costa Claims Sponsor Not Unhappy

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Mary Costa looks the picture of ease as she pictures the sponsor's product on TV. But the lovely blonde salesgirl on the Thursday night Climax show has made good by hard work and earnest concentration.

"Doing the commercials on TV looks like a breeze," she commented. "That's the way it's supposed to look. But you can't let up for a moment. If you do, you get in trouble."

"I always pull my boo-boos towards the end of the speech when I feel it's almost over and I can relax. Or when I think it's going to be an easy show and I decide I'll use the prompter instead of memorizing."

The most famous of Mary's fluffs came a few weeks ago. After extolling the low-cost of an automobile she added that prices start at $7,235. Fortunately, her sidekick, Bill Lundigan, caught the error immediately and said it was "$2,735."

Mary's face was red, but her employers didn't mind a bit. The boner was printed wisely, thus advertising freely the car's price.

"They don't object when I make an error," Mary said, "and the public seems to enjoy it. It makes me seem more human to them, and I get a lot of mail when such things happen. Now I have people listening carefully to the in the middle of her spiel. Quick-thinking Mary stepped out of it during a closeup and continued talking.

Rowan and Martin Selling 'Low Pressure' Comedy

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—It is high time we came to grips with Rowan and Martin.

The boys have arrived. They are a hit act in the best night clubs in the country. They just returned from headlining at London's Palladium. They have been contracted by NBC and have made good impressions on shows with Bob Hope, Perry Como and Jerry Lewis. And last week Universal-International tossed them a big party to celebrate their upcoming movie.

See what I mean? They've got it made.

So who are they?
Dan Rowan is tanned, handsome, curly-haired, married and the father of three. He's a Los Angeles boy born "somewhere in Oklahoma" while his mother was entraining westward. He was once a junior writer at Paramount, dabbled in little theater work. Says he's 31.

Dick Martin is also good-looking but has less hair. He was born in Detroit, is single and somewhat wackier than Dan. He has been straight man in an ill-fated comedy team, gag writer for "Duffy's Tavern," bartender, etc. Says he's 30.

Dick was tending bar in a San Fernando Valley joint when comic Tommy Noonan came in with Dan. Noonan knew them both, figured they could make a go of it as a team. With no other immediates prospects, Dick and Dan decided to give it a try.

The boys played veterans' hospitals, civic groups and small-time niteries all over the map.

"Some of the places were lousy," Dick recalled. "Like Albuquerque, where we played to a mixed audience. I don't mean men and women. I mean cowboys and Indians."

They started to crack the clown barrier two years ago in a date at Lake Tahoe.

What are they like? Let them explain:

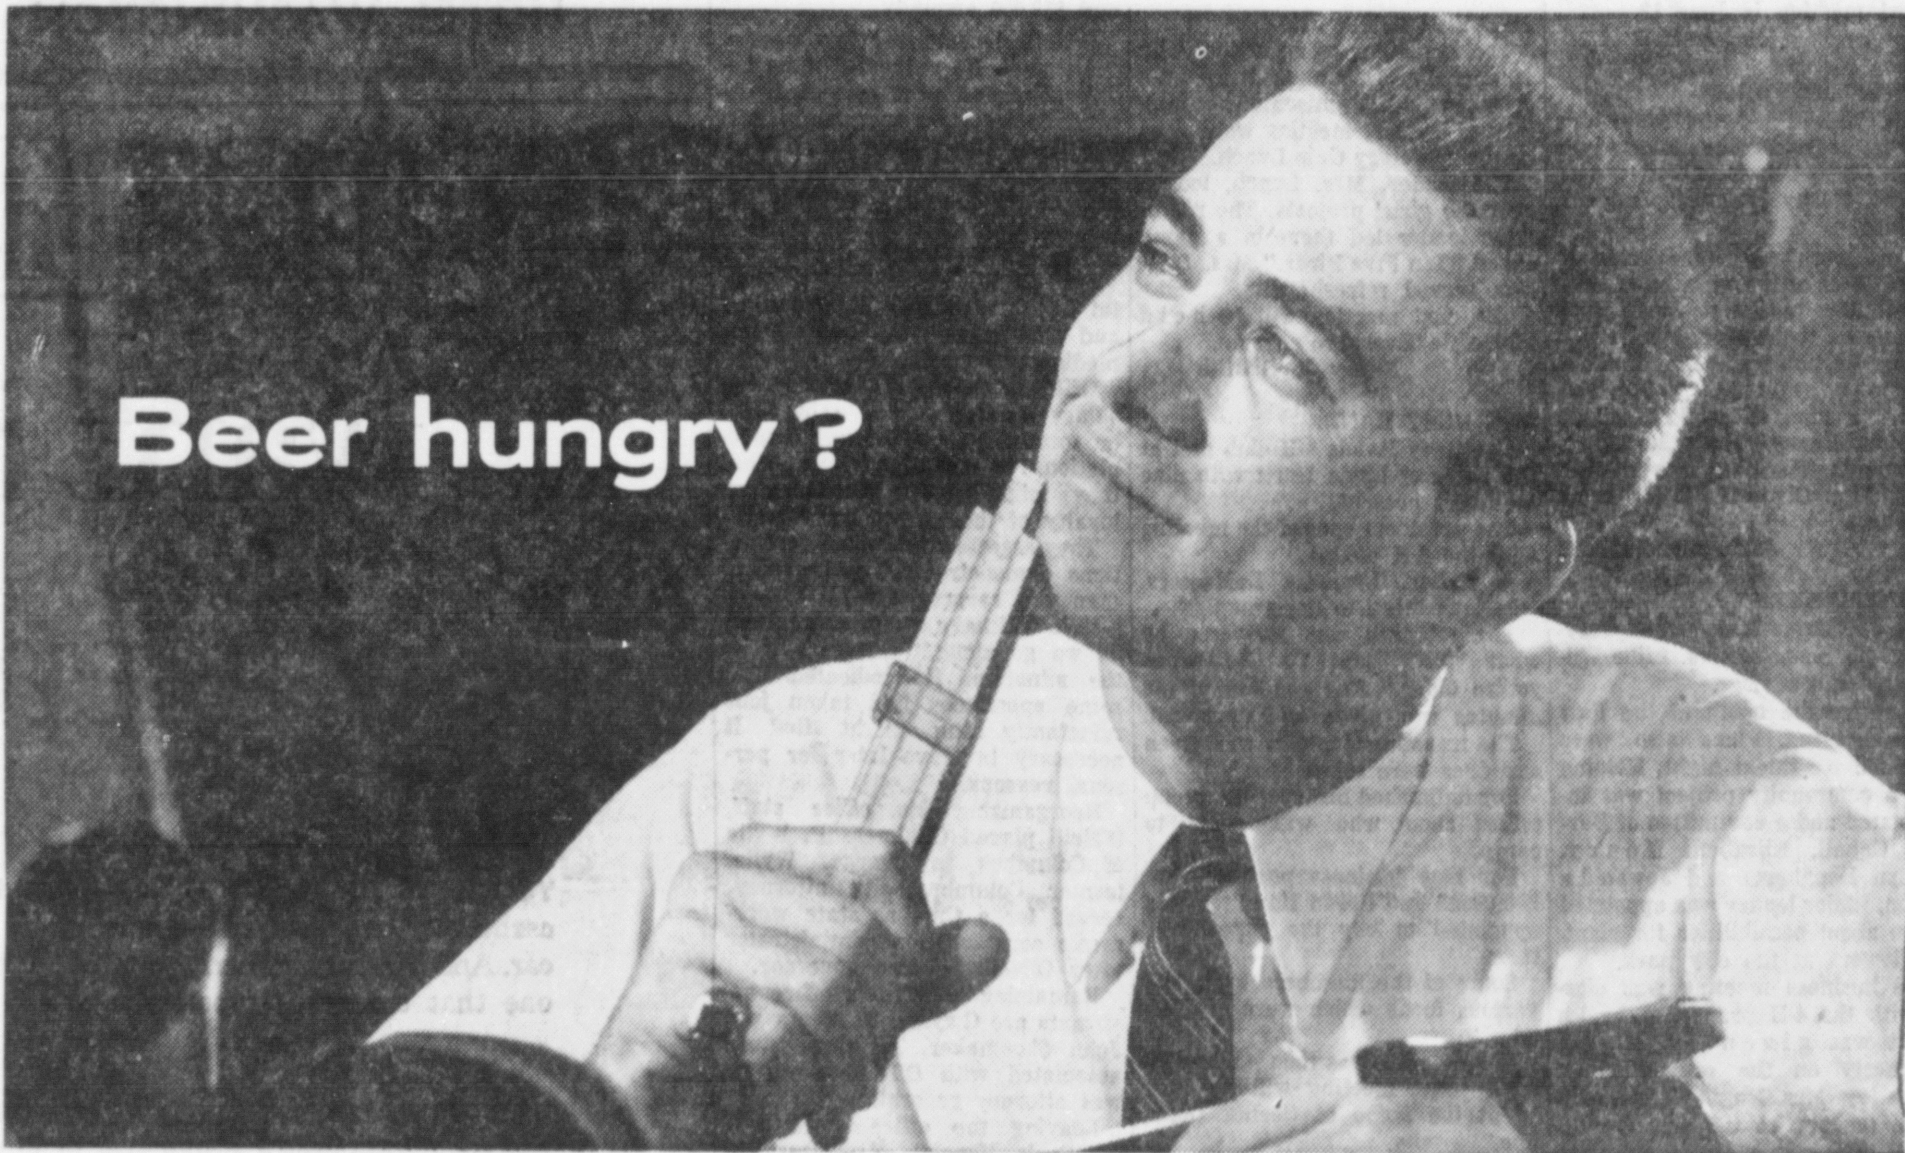

"We figured the time was ripe for low-pressure comics. We don't come out with a big fanfare. We don't sing or dance or play instruments in the band or upset trays in the audience. All we do is talk."

Race Relations School Scheduled

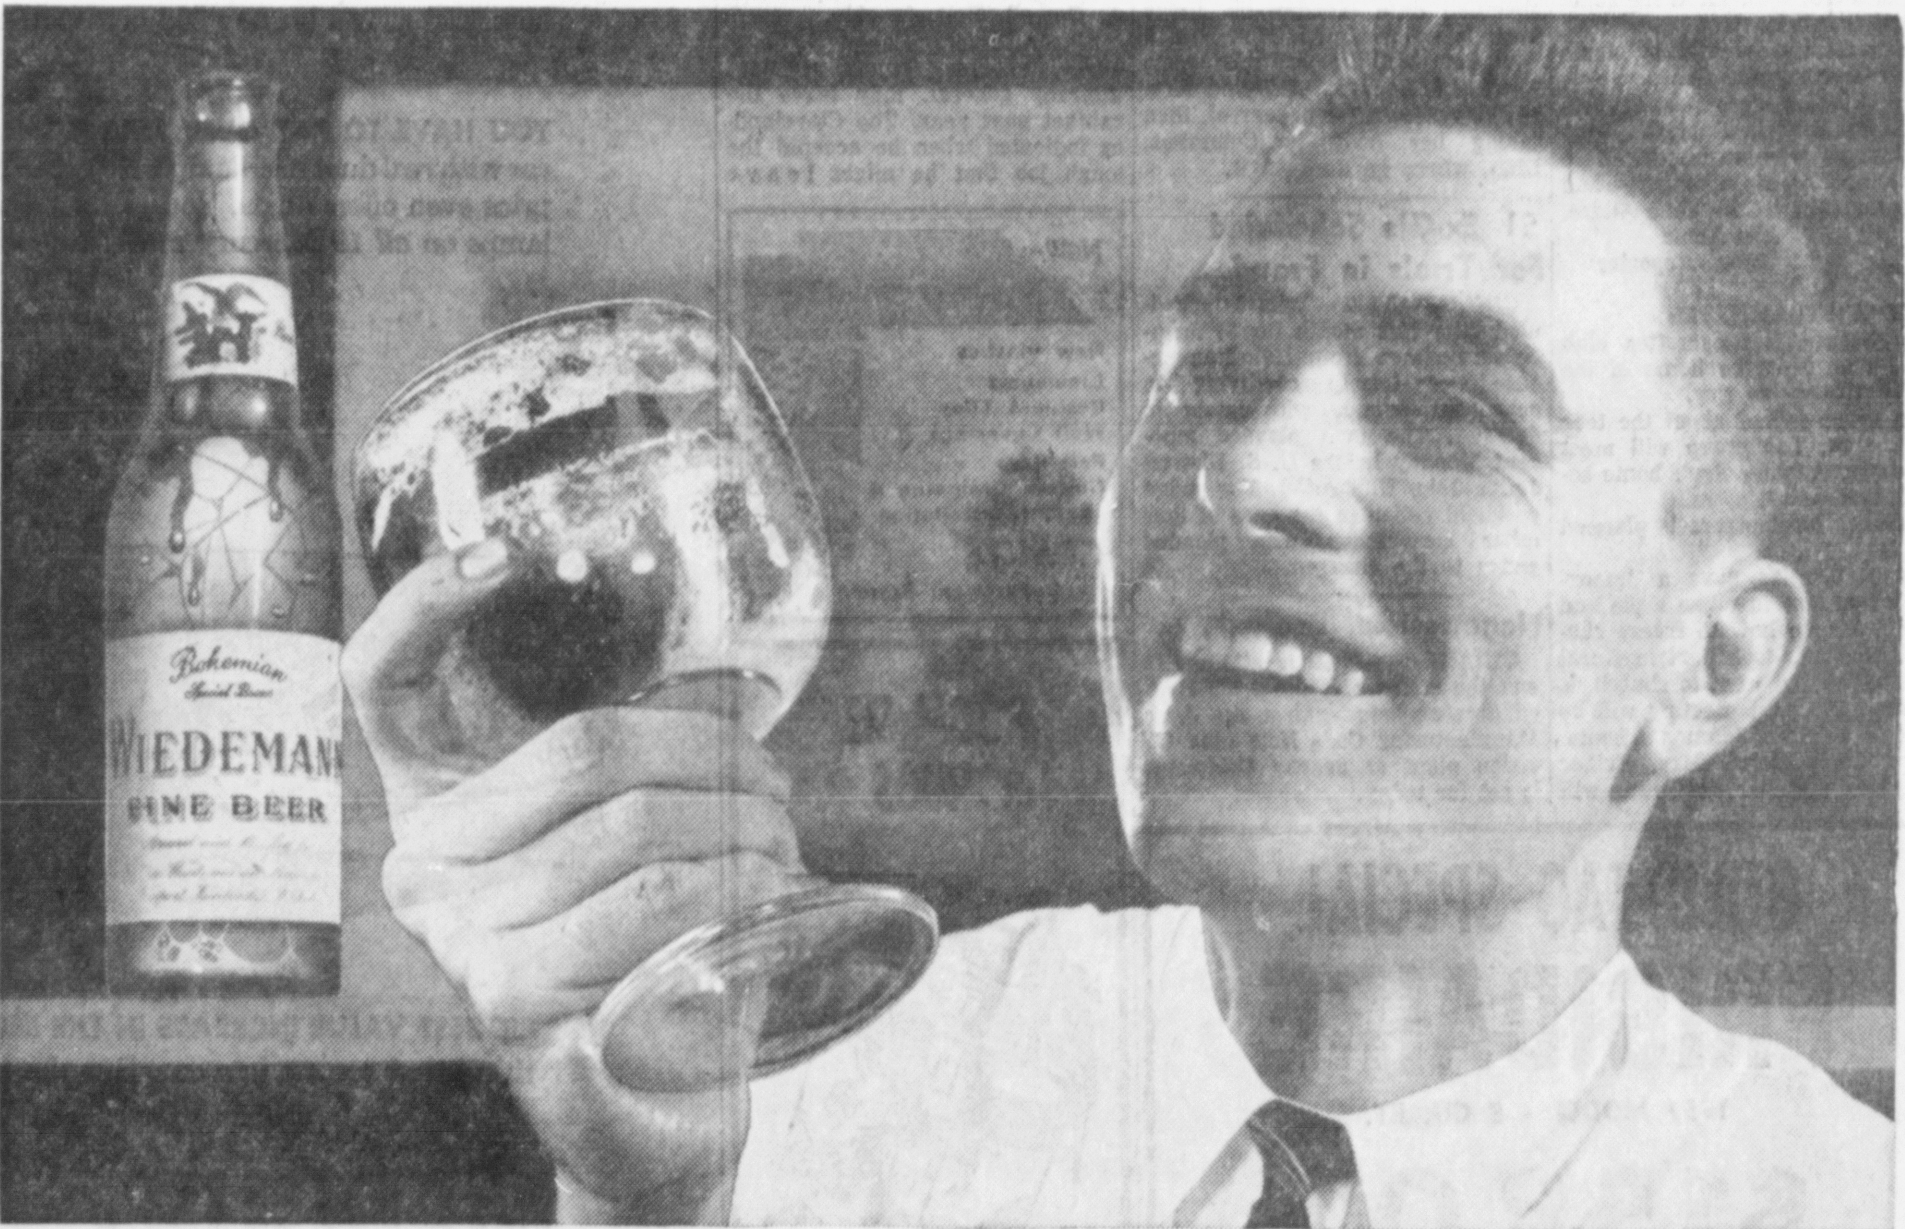

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—The United Lutheran Church in America announced it will conduct a school of race relations at Wittenberg College here June 24-28.

More than 100 representatives from the church's 32 synods will attend, the ULCA's Board of Missions said. The church also received a $10,000 grant from the Ford Foundation for a study of race relations to be made following the Wittenberg College course.

Walter O'Keefe Still on Radio

Veteran Entertainer Shuns TV Programs

By CHARLES MERCER
AP Radio-TV Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Radio is still very much alive and so is Walter O'Keefe. This is demonstrable if you tune in on NBC radio's "Nightline" on a Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday at 7:30 p. m.

The test of a true radio fan used to be one who recognized and enjoyed O'Keefe. It seemed he was all over the dial: "Magic Carpet," "The Rudy Vallee Show," "Town Hall Tonight," "Music Hall," "Double Or Nothing." He's as good on "Nightline" as he was 25 years ago.

Reminiscing about the days of "Double or Nothing" on radio, O'Keefe said that such ad libs as these just never appear on television.

O'Keefe (to the audience, about a bright little boy): "Here's a young man who's going some place."

"Boy: 'I just went.'"
O'Keefe (commenting on the hat of a lady guest): "I wish you people at home could see this lady's beautiful hat. It looks like the pattern on the rug in Hedy Lamar's bedroom."

Lady: "Well, lucky you."
When a man asked NBC for his biography, O'Keefe dropped down at a typewriter and wrote it himself—among other things he has been a newspaper columnist. It begins:

"On Aug. 18, 1900, Walter O'Keefe was born of poor but Irish parents. As Confucius say, 'No matter what you say about Walter O'Keefe, it is partly true.' His father, Michael, was unquestionably one of the best amateur entertainers in Hartford, Conn. Young Walter was one of those apprentice monsters who was a child singer from the time he was five until he was 12..."

For eight pages O'Keefe traces his fascinating climb upward and upward with the lively arts. With a little expansion, he could publish it as a book. And now that somebody has suggested it, he probably will.

Bees, wasps and hornets won't sting unless you strike at them or sit on them. That's what the Department of Entomology, university of Wisconsin says. They offer no proof.

GROVER CLEVELAND STONEBURNER

After being sent to the Wyoming State Hospital, Evanston, Wyo., on April 23, 1954, for observation as to his mental condition, Stoneburner escaped on July 14, 1954.

In a complaint filed before a U. S. Commissioner at Casper, Wyo., on Sept. 20, 1954, Stoneburner was charged with fleeing from the State of Wyoming to avoid confinement after conviction for the crime of attempted murder.

The fugitive's aliases include Wes C. Gear, G. C. Stoneburner, and Gover C. Stoneburner. He has been employed as barber, carpenter, farmer, laborer and taxicab driver. Reportedly carrying a revolver in his suitcase, Stoneburner should be considered extremely dangerous.

O'Neill Cites Need For New Colleges

OXFORD (AP)—Gov. C. William O'Neill told the Miami University graduating class Monday that Ohio must have more colleges, and increased facilities to assure college education for every citizen in Ohio.

He said "there is not now equality of educational opportunity beyond the high school level in Ohio. In Franklin County, 43 to every 100 young people of college age go to college. In Butler County, only 17 of every 100; Adams County, only 6 and in Lawrence County only 5. Tests indicate there is not this great disparity in ability among students from different geographical areas. Reasons are clear: 'Lack of motivation, lack of funds, lack of facilities and faculty.'

O'Neill Cabinet Resignations To Be Few

Aides to Governor Pledge To Help Get His Program Rolling

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Persistent reports of wholesale resignations in Gov. C. William O'Neill's official family appear decidedly premature.

Cabinet members have assured the governor they will stay on and help get the administration program rolling.

An exception is Oliver P. Bolton of Mentor, former congressman who took the post of commerce director on a temporary basis. Bolton says he is anxious to devote full time to his newspapers and other, personal business.

Latest to assure O'Neill of continued service is Mrs. Margaret Ireland of Cleveland, state welfare director. She is the wife of R. Livingston Ireland, Cleveland industrialist.

Because of her varied community and other interests, Mrs. Ireland virtually commutes between Cleveland and Columbus to handle the difficult welfare job.

Reports of resignations circulated after the Legislature, at O'Neill's request, wiped out $6,000 a year increases approved three months earlier. The action returned salaries of most cabinet members to the former level of $10,000 and $12,000 annually.

O'Neill termed the increases a "mistake." He requested them before taking office to help draft executives for state service. In asking the cut-back soon after inauguration, the governor said he had determined that pay was not the primary consideration in obtaining competent personnel.

The $25,000 a year post of mental health director still is unfilled and O'Neill says he has no immediate prospects.

Officials conceded that the deep salary slashes worked a hardship on some but they discounted speculation, in some quarters, that they might lessen efficiency or loyalty of the governor's aides.

They asserted the lack of resignations demonstrated loyalty rather than the reverse.

"We will have some resignations as we go along," O'Neill said of the situation. He indicated that some appointees had taken jobs reluctantly and might find it necessary to leave later for personal reasons.

Reorganizing his office staff, O'Neill placed Chalmers P. Wylie of Columbus in charge. Wylie, former Columbus city attorney, served for a time as state workmen's compensation administrator after O'Neill became governor.

Remaining as Wylie's office assistants are Gwynne B. Myers and John Shoemaker. All three were associated with O'Neill when he was attorney general.

Leaving the office staff next month is Kenneth E. Krouse to take charge of alumni and foundation affairs at Bowling Green State University. Krouse a B-G graduate, also served with O'Neill in the attorney general's office.

Two former assistant attorneys general are backstopping in their departments. They are James L. Young, Wylie's assistant while BUC administrator, and William A. Carroll, Bolton's aide.

Liquor Director Robert B. Krupansky, another former assistant attorney general, may leave the cabinet next year. The Cleveland indicated when he accepted the tough job that he might leave after O'Neill's inauguration.

But still she advises young women to enter the profession.

"It's such a rewarding experience in realizing they've accomplished even that one half as much," she explains. "They won't be making a lot of money, either, but they'll be filling a need for women in the legal profession."

Miss Talley, who has her own practice in Little Rock, Ark., was elected president of the NAWL last fall at its convention held just prior to the meeting of the American Bar Assn. The 1,200 members of the NAWL also are members of the ABA.

The Portias favor a separate organization, Miss Talley says because it affords them an opportunity to meet and discuss problems of particular interest to women in the profession.

Women she believes, are a little more interested in family life within a year for the private practice of law.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Miss Neva Talley, president of the National Assn. of Women Lawyers, says lady barristers "have to work twice as hard to accomplish one half as much."

But still she advises young women to enter the profession.

"It's such a rewarding experience in realizing they've accomplished even that one half as much," she explains. "They won't be making a lot of money, either, but they'll be filling a need for women in the legal profession."

and juvenile delinquency problems. Men, she adds, seem more interested in corporation and insurance law cases which take less time-consuming probing of detail and background, and bring higher fees.

"Many family life problems can be solved by just having someone to talk to," Miss Talley observes.

"Men are not adjusted to just listening to the sob story. Often adults and children in conflict with the law really need consultation with a sympathetic and understanding person. The mother instinct is with the woman lawyer."

The national group is also interested in uniform marriage and divorce laws, labor laws pertaining to the protection of women in industry, equal pay for equal work and other safeguards.

There are some 12,000 women lawyers in this country.

"This is only an estimate," Miss Talley says. "Some are following an early trend of just using their initials, such as 'Mary Jane Doe' signing as 'M. J. Doe,' so it's hard to count them all. Twenty or 30 years ago it was necessary for women lawyers to make their names appear masculine to get a start. It's still hard for a woman to build up a practice on her own."

But, Miss Talley, who in private life is Mrs. Joseph H. Morris, is convinced that as more and more women enter the profession and the public gets used to the idea, the old prejudices will disappear. "Also," she adds, "women shouldn't shun away from politics. They might help raise the standards. Women aren't as easy to influence as some men and they're more conscientious."

O'Neill Cabinet Resignations To Be Few

Aides to Governor Pledge To Help Get His Program Rolling

By REED SMITH

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Persistent reports of wholesale resignations in Gov. C. William O'Neill's official family appear decidedly premature.

Cabinet members have assured the governor they will stay on and help get the administration program rolling.

An exception is Oliver P. Bolton of Mentor, former congressman who took the post of commerce director on a temporary basis. Bolton says he is anxious to devote full time to his newspapers and other personal business.

Latest to assure O'Neill of continued service is Mrs. Margaret Ireland of Cleveland, state welfare director. She is the wife of R. Livingston Ireland, Cleveland industrialist.

Because of her varied community and other interests, Mrs. Ireland virtually commutes between Cleveland and Columbus to handle the difficult welfare job.

National League Race Remains Tight Sprint

Milwaukee's Bob Buhl Still Taming Bums As Bucs Trip Redlegs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Milwaukee's Bob Buhl still has the Brooklyn Dodgers on a string. Cincinnati's Joe Nuxhall is still "all goosed up"—and the National League pennant race is still a tight little sprint, with only a three-game spread covering the first five teams.

Only two games were scheduled in the NL Monday night.

Buhl, who beat the Dodgers eight times last year, wrapped them up for a second time this season with a four-hitter 3-1 that left Brooklyn and the Braves in a tie for third place, 1½ games behind first-place Cincinnati.

Pittsburgh and Vern Law took care of the Redlegs, 5-2. Law pitched a four-hitter that left the leaders only one game ahead of the Philadelphia Phillies.

The American League scrap saw Chicago's idle White Sox regain a five-length edge over the New York Yankees, who were spilled 9-4 at Detroit.

Boston's Red Sox, with Dick Gernert driving in six runs, walked Kansas City 11-4 in the only other AL game.

Buhl, a 28-year-old right hander who was 3-5 against Brooklyn until he developed his whammy last season, walked six and gave up three of the Dodgers' hits to Gil Hodges.

A two-run homer by Ed Matthews, after an error, gave Buhl the edge he needed in the fourth inning against Don Newcombe.

Nuxhall wound up with his fourth defeat in five decisions still wondering how he can shake a mechanical mixup. The right hander, 29, says, "I'm all goosed up—and I know what's wrong. I'm not in the groove, I'm letting go of the ball too soon. Up here, at eye level."

His big trouble was letting go of the ball at all in the sixth inning Monday night when the Pirates smashed a 2-all tie with three runs. Frank Thomas singled home the clincher.

Law gave up a single and a Walky Post home run in the first inning, and two more hits in the fourth while winning his third.

Charlie Maxwell drove in five runs on two home runs for the Tigers, who also had home runs from Al Kaline and Harvey Kuenn in taking three of four from the Yankees. Frank Lary won for the first time since May 5, losing a shutout on Mickey Mantle's 15th home run in the sixth, and giving way to reliever Al Aber in the eighth. Hank Bauer hit a two-run homer off Aber in the ninth.

The Red Sox smashed 13 hits off Alex Kellner and two relievers, with Gernert doing the job with a pair of homers and a double. Ted Williams was hitless in four trips. Willard Nixon won his fourth with a 10-hitter.

Stan Musial Set To Tie Record

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Stan Musial, perhaps the National League's all-time No. 1 player, reaches another milestone tonight when he plays in his 822nd consecutive game. That will equal Gus Suhr's National League "iron man" record set 10 years ago.

The great St. Louis Cardinal star already holds the league record for most extra-base hits. He is almost certain to add to the runs scored, runs batted in, total bases and two-base hit titles before he finally lays aside his bat. He began the season with 774 consecutive games played since the start of the 1952 season.

Antoine Lavoisier, known as the father of modern chemistry, died on the guillotine at the hands of French revolutionaries in 1794.

Joe Nuxhall Fails Again For Redlegs

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Joe Nuxhall, once the finest southpaw in the National League, says he is still trying to get back "in my correct pitching groove" for Cincinnati.

But it looks like the solution to his pitching problems is still elusive. Nuxhall lost his fourth game against one victory Monday night. Pittsburgh's Pirates beat Cincinnati, 5-2 and cut down the Reds' National League lead.

Nuxhall says his difficulty is a "mechanical failure"—that he's letting go of the ball at the wrong place.

Whatever the problem, he was chased in the sixth inning after giving up seven hits, including a run-scoring single that brought in what proved the winning marker.

Nuxhall left two Pirates on base when he retired. Reliever Raul Sanchez gave up two more runs before closing the inning.

Before Nuxhall left in the sixth, the Pirates put across that winning run on two singles and a sacrifice.

The Pirates had pulled even, 2-2, in the fourth on a double and a single. The first Pirate marker came in the third on a walk and a double.

It was the first Pirate victory over the Reds in 16 games, and left Cincinnati just one game ahead of the Philadelphia Phillies.

In tonight's game, Don Gross is slated to oppose Luis Arroyo on the mound.

Kluszewski Says He's Ready To Play

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Big Ted Kluszewski, who has been treating his ailing back with "bump and grind" treatments, said today he's ready to play for the Cincinnati Redlegs, but his manager adopted a wait and see attitude.

Informed that "big Klu" was optimistic about his health, Manager Birdie Tebbetts, slightly upset by Monday night's 5-2 loss to the Pittsburgh Pirates, declared:

"That's good. When will we put Ted back on the active list? Well, I'll wait and see how he looks and how he feels."

Herb Score Slated For New Eye Exam

CLEVELAND (AP)—Herb Score may get the word today as to when he can resume his pitching chores for the Cleveland Indians.

The 24-year-old star lefthander arrived Monday from Hagerstown, Md., where he has been convalescing from an eye injury at the home for the last two weeks.

He had an appointment this afternoon with Dr. Charles I. Thomas, an eye specialist, for an examination which may determine when he can resume workouts.

Oldsters Seen Leading Open

Some Say Youngsters Not Yet Ripe for Test

TOLEDO (AP)—The 77th National Open Golf Tournament shaped up more strongly today as a probable battle of the time-hardened oldsters and provided the pointed query:

Whatever became of the celebrated "youth movement?"

"These kids just don't have the shots yet," said Jimmy Demaret, 47, whose putting touch has made him one of the pretournament choices for the record $7,200 top prize money in the event starting Thursday.

"They're all fine players but they haven't had their games sharpened by tough championship courses and stern competition."

Some of the topnotch youngsters agreed they weren't quite ready to wrest the sport's supremacy from the aging Hogans and Sneads.

"We're not ripe yet," said Ken Venturi, 26, of San Francisco one of the brightest of the new crop. "But I think it's only a matter of two or three years before a group will develop and completely take the play away from Hogan, Snead, Middlecoff and Ford."

"I don't know who he'll be—Dow Finsterwald, Arnold Palmer or Gene Littler, but somebody will come along who will be the greatest yet."

National Amateur champion Harvie Ward Jr., and Bill Campbell, former Walker Cup captain, agreed. "Maybe the boys don't play enough tough courses," said Ward.

"I don't think the youngsters are seasoned enough yet but they are developing and the time is near," added Campbell.

Overall, this has been a rough year for the younger crop. The tour has been dominated by men like Masters champion Doug Ford, 34, and Demaret, winner of three tournaments.

Of the youngsters, the brightest at the moment are Finsterwald, a serious, 27-year-old links tactician from Athens, Ohio; Venturi, 26, fresh out of amateur ranks, and Palmer, the Latrobe, Pa., star who whipped Ford Sunday in a playoff for the Akron Rubber City Open title.

Unbeaten Jets Defeat Flashes

Mike Burris Hurls Two-Hit Game

The Coca Cola Jets whipped the Record-Herald Flashes 5-3 Monday to remain only undefeated Little League team.

Mike Burris again pitched effectively for the Jets, registering 12 strike-outs. Burris had a shut-out going until the last inning when the Flashes came up with three runs.

Monday's victory over the Flashes lengthened the Jet win streak to three, the longest of the young 1957 season.

Burris held the losers to two hits, but one of those was Billy Halliday's bases-loaded triple in the sixth.

On the mound for the Flashes was Donnie Curtin who pitched a good, but not good enough game to decision the Jets.

Hitting safely for the Flashes were Halliday and Don Kelley. Ronnie Jones, Joe Anders, Mike Kelley and Don Julierat hit for the Jets. Jones again collected two hits, a homer and single.

In the preliminary minor league game, the Pennington team was defeated by the Chows.

Brays Defeat Seals, 7 to 6, In Ruth Loop

The Bray's Sports Center team defeated the Insurance Assn. Seals by a score of 7-6 in a Babe Ruth game Monday evening at City Park.

Their decision over the Seals gave the Bray boys their second straight victory.

The winning Bray tally came when the ball got away from the catcher with Terry Stillings carrying the mail at third base. When the catcher let the ball roll away the wide-awake Stillings scored and won the ball game, 7-6. Stillings had walked to reach first base and then promptly stole second and third.

Stillings was the starting pitcher for Brays and went 1½ complete route. He registered 11 strike-outs while giving out only five walks.

THE THREE HITS which the Bray team got were garnered by Bob Johnson (2) and Satch Evans.

Sloppy play in the field was the factor in the Seals' defeat, although they did operate a clean double play from Butch Reiber to John Campbell.

Getting one hit apiece for the Seals were Tim Kellough, Gil Crouse, Herb Jones, and Roy Wright. John Campbell got two hits.

Corky Will started on the mound for the Seals and displayed a good fast ball but apparently weakened in the later innings and Herb Jones was brought in to pitch the rest of the way. Both Will and Jones were victims of several misuses committed by the Seals.

For Breath-Taking Ugliness, Mudpuppy Takes Top Prizes

By DION HENDERSON Associated Press Staff Writer

Let every outdoors convert who is sure the world of nature is fraught with naught but things of beauty, regard—early in his career—the mudpuppy.

This has the cold-water treatment for enthusiasm beat all hollow. If you're not hysterical to begin with, you will be.

John Madson of the Iowa Conservation Department sums up the case for contrasts in the world outside in this charming fashion:

"Dame nature is a tricky one. To the coral snake, for example, she imparted vivid beauty and venom that could petrify an oak post. To the mudpuppy she gave an aura of pure, ethereal, breath-taking ugliness but made it the most harmless little brute around."

If you should be fortunate enough to catch one of these little salamanders whilst fishing, you might determine for yourself that Mr. Madson is correct by handling

Yankees Set For Vital Duel With Chisox

CHICAGO (AP)—The New York Yankees, pre-season choices to make the American League pennant race a runaway, have a chance to regain some of their lost glitter the next three days.

The Yankees move in for a three-game series against the Chicago White Sox who hold a commanding five-game lead over the fading bombers.

A Yankee sweep would justify White Sox critics who have said all along the speed boys will slow down with hot weather.

A Chicago sweep would cause jubilation among Yankee haters who say the Yanks have "had it" and are hoping to see an end to the champions domination of the American League.

If the Yanks take two-of-three, they'll still be four games behind when they leave town. Of course, two-of-three for Chicago would boost the Sox lead to a big six games with the season one-third over.

Sox manager Al Lopez has his pitching rotation humming and also will have Larry Doby and Luis Aparicio back in the lineup. Except for one pinch batting appearance, Doby has been out more than a week with a groin injury.

Aparicio will be at shortstop after missing three-out-of-four Sox losses to Baltimore. He suffered a pulled leg muscle.

National League Race Remains Tight Sprint

Milwaukee's Bob Buhl Still Taming Bums As Bucs Trip Redlegs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Milwaukee's Bob Buhl still has the Brooklyn Dodgers on a string, Cincinnati's Joe Nuxhall is still "all goofed up"—and the National League pennant race is still a tight little sprint, with only a three-game spread covering the first five teams.

Only two games were scheduled in the NL Monday night.

Buhl, who beat the Dodgers eight times last year, wrapped them up for a second time this season with a four-hitter 3-1 that left Brooklyn and the Braves in a tie for third place, 1½ games behind first-place Cincinnati.

Pittsburgh and Vern Law took care of the Redlegs, 5-2. Law pitched a four-hitter that left the leaders only one game ahead of the Philadelphia Phillies.

The American League scrap saw Chicago's idle White Sox regain a five-length edge over the New York Yankees, who were spilled 9-4 at Detroit.

Boston's Red Sox, with Dick Gernert driving in six runs, walked Kansas City 11-4 in the only other AL game.

Buhl, a 28-year-old right hander who was 3-5 against Brooklyn until he developed his whammy last season, walked six and gave up three of the Dodgers' hits to Gil Hodges.

A two-run homer by Ed Matthews, after an error, gave Buhl the edge he needed in the fourth inning against Don Newcombe.

Nuxhall wound up with his fourth defeat in five decisions still wondering how he can shake a mechanical mixup. The right-hander, 29, says, "I'm all goofed up—and I know what's wrong."

I'm not in the groove, I'm letting go of the ball too soon. Up here, at eye level."

His big trouble was letting go of the ball at all in the sixth inning Monday night when the Pirates smashed a 2-all tie with three runs. Frank Thomas singled home the clincher.

Law gave up a single and a Walky Post home run in the first inning, and two more hits in the fourth while winning his third.

Charlie Maxwell drove in five runs on two home runs for the Tigers, who also had home runs from Al Kaline and Harvey Kuenn in taking three of four from the Yankees. Frank Lary won for the first time since May 5, losing a shutout on Mickey Mantle's 15th home run in the sixth, and giving way to reliever Al Aber in the eighth. Hank Bauer hit a two-run homer off Aber in the ninth.

The Red Sox smashed 13 hits off loser Alex Kellner and two relievers, with Gernert doing the job with a pair of homers and a double. Ted Williams was hitless in four trips. Willard Nixon won his fourth with a 10-hitter.

Stan Musial Set To Tie Record

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Stan Musial, perhaps the National League's all-time No. 1 player, reaches another milestone tonight when he plays in his 822nd consecutive game. That will equal Gus Suhr's National League "iron man" record set 10 years ago.

The great St. Louis Cardinal star already holds the league record for most extra-base hits. He is almost certain to add to the runs scored, runs batted in, total bases and two-base hit titles before he finally lays aside his bat. He began the season with 774 consecutive games played since the start of the 1952 season.

Antoine Lavoisier, known as the father of modern chemistry, died on the guillotine at the hands of French revolutionaries in 1794.

Bloomington Beats Girtons In Ruth League

Bloomington defeated the Girtons, 12-7, in a free scoring Babe Ruth League game at Bloomington Monday evening.

Although the hits were at seven apiece, bases on balls given by Julierat, starter for Girtons, and Evans, his reliever, were the difference.

Smith was the starting pitcher for Bloomington. He gave up four walks but evened the count with four strikeouts.

The first four in the Girton lineup went hitless, but the rest of the order came through. Lynch, shortstop; Julierat, pitcher, and Wright, first baseman each got three and Evans, pitcher, got the other.

For Bloomington, Smith, pitcher, and Evans, centerfielder, collected two hits. Harris, catcher, Evans, first baseman, and Hidy, third baseman, each got one.

All 14 hits were singles, although three errors were made by Girtons and four by Bloomington.

Trailing by a score of 11-2 going into the top of the sixth inning, the Girton's scored five runs, but the rally was nipped before the gap was closed.

The Bloomington team came back in the bottom of the sixth with an insurance run and Smith retired the Girtons without a score in the seventh.

This marked the first defeat for the Girton boys and also the first victory for Bloomington. Each team has been involved in a tie game.

Louise Suggs Wins Ladies PGA Crown

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The golf artistry of Louise Suggs was largely responsible for the success of the third ladies PGA Championship Tournament from a competitive standpoint.

Louise, playing her best when she didn't think she had a chance to win, came in with an amazing 68 on the final round for a 285 total that won the tournament by three strokes.

It was a tournament that might have been a runaway for Wiffi Smith, the 20-year-old red head from St. Clair, Mich., who led for three rounds. But her play collapsed.

Injured Bob Leeth Game from Bench

Bob Leeth, only casualty of the Babe Ruth League baseball season to date, watched Monday's Brays-Seals game here with a cast on his right ankle. Leeth suffered a fracture of a small bone in his ankle while sliding into second base in the opening game here. He is expected to get back in action with his team, the Medics, in two or three weeks.

For Breath-Taking Ugliness, Mudpuppy Takes Top Prizes

By DION HENDERSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

Let every outdoors convert who is sure the world of nature is fraught with naught but things of beauty, regard—early in his career—the mudpuppy.

This has the cold-water treatment for enthusiasm beat all hollow. If you're not hysterical to begin with, you will be.

John Madson of the Iowa Conservation Department sums up the case for contrasts in the world outside in this charming fashion:

"Dame nature is a tricky one. To the coral snake, for example, she imparted vivid beauty and venom that could petrify an oak post. To the mudpuppy she gave an aura of pure, ethereal, breath-taking ugliness but made it the most harmless little brute around."

If you should be fortunate enough to catch one of these little salamanders whilst fishing, you might determine for yourself that Mr. Madson is correct by handling the—ugh—thing as familiarly as a robin handles a n angleworm.

Technically speaking, the mudpuppy—a common resident of slow streams, quiet ponds and muddy lakes through a considerable part of the country—is a salamander and hence an amphibian, kin to frogs and such comparative collar ads as toads. They have long tails and their pelvic girdles are in direct linkage with their hind legs so they don't jump for much. Just ooze along.

If you've never seen one—or if you find yourself a little hazy on details of the several days following the first time you did see one—they're about a foot long. In color, they're kind of a basement brown, with dismaying patches of cellar gray. This skin is—reportedly—slick and rubbery and the mess is finished off with three sets of bushy red external gills on each side of the neck.

As a matter of fact, except for forewarning the summer angler of the shock he might be in for, there is only one reason to mention the mudpuppy at all.

And here it is: nothing will empty a boat or a dock of chattering, fish-frightening women-folks faster than a mudpuppy hooked and horsed up into their midst. Not even high explosive.

So if things ever get that tough, just bait your hook with worms and sink it to the bottom. And close your eyes.

Argentina Husky Wins Easy Decision

NEW YORK (AP)—With just one year of pro experience behind him, Argentina's handsome, husky Alex Miteff appeared headed today for a ranking among the world's top ten heavyweights.

The undefeated, 6-1 invader decisively whipped Germany's Willi Besmanoff at St. Nicholas arena Monday night to chalk up his ninth victory in as many fights.

Miteff was awarded the unanimous decision by the following votes: Referee Teddy Martin, 7-1, Judge Joe Agnello 9-1, and Judge Bert Grant, 6-3-1.

WHERE DOES IT ALL GO?

Heedless spending habits may account for a lot of that change which seems to disappear between paydays. Why not get into the habit of depositing something in a savings account with us before you start to spend? Yankees Set For Vital Duel With Chisox

CHICAGO (AP)—The New York Yankees, pre-season choices to make the American League pennant race a runaway, have a chance to regain some of their lost glitter the next three days.

The Yankees move in for a three-game series against the Chicago White Sox who hold a commanding five-game lead over the fading bombers.

A Yankee sweep would justify White Sox critics who have said all along the speed boys will slow down with hot weather.

A Chicago sweep would cause jubilation among Yankee haters who say the Yanks have "had it" and are hoping to see an end to the champions domination of the American League.

If the Yanks take two-of-three, they'll still be four games behind when they leave town. Of course, two-of-three for Chicago would boost the Sox lead to a big six games with the season one-third over.

Sox manager Al Lopez has his pitching rotation humming and also will have Larry Doby and Luis Aparicio back in the lineup. Except for one pinch batting appearance, Doby has been out more than a week with a groin injury.

Aparicio will be at shortstop after missing three-out-of-four Sox losses to Baltimore. He suffered a pulled leg muscle.

50 Junior Golfers Tee Off for Titles

LIMA (AP)—The 16th annual Ohio Junior Golf Championship opened here today with more than 50 junior golfers teeing off at Shawnee Country Club's 6,202-yard par 72 course.

Two sections, one the 16-19 age bracket and the other for golfers 15 and under, are scheduled for 36 holes each of medal play. Practice rounds were Monday.

April Events Plague Actor

Big Events of Life Come Then for Garner

HOLLYWOOD — It's enough to make James Garner believe in astrology.

Everything happens to him in April. He was born April 7, 1928. He was wounded in Korea in April 1952. And in April 1957, he learned he was to become a father for the first time, signed a new seven-year contract with Warner Brothers and won his first starring picture, "Darby's Rangers."

Jim is a rangy, dark-haired Oklahoman with just a touch of his native tongue. "It took me six years to get rid of it and when I'm around Andy Griffith for six minutes, it comes right back again," he said.

He can thank Charlton Heston for his big break. The movie Moses was all set to play Darby, then the deal blew up just before production was to start. Jim said: "The first I knew about it was when the wardrobe man called up and asked if I would come in for some fittings. I asked him what for. He told me I was going to play Darby."

The unexpected has a habit of happening to Jim Garner. He had no thought of turning actor until he was 25.

He left his hometown of Norman at 16 to join the Merchant Marine in 1945. His father had moved to Los Angeles, and Jim joined him after his discharge, enrolling at Hollywood High School.

Discharged from the army after the Korean War, he returned to Los Angeles. He said that he was walking down La Cienega Boulevard when he saw a sign, Paul Gregory Productions. He stopped in.

Gregory gave him a job in "The Caine Mutiny Court Martial" as one of the silent six — the officers who listened to the court proceedings.

Grown-Up Star

WEARING a happy smile, Margaret O'Brien is elated after getting, for the last time, court approval in Hollywood on her TV contracts. She will be 21 next January. Under the new contract, she will get $2,500 for each show of a new series, "Maggie."

To be elected by the committeemen from their own number are a commander, first and second vice commanders, a finance officer, an adjutant, and a house committee member.

Voting for committeemen was held Monday night in Legion Hall. A total of 20 candidates were in the race.

New board members will take office July 8 when a new president will be elected.

Stepping down last night after three years in office were Tom Mark, president of the group; John Breiner, second vice president; Joseph Peters, Emerson Marting and L. M. (Pete) Hayes.

Mark thanked the board for their interest and cooperation during his term of office.

Heading the agenda was a resume of plans for the three-day membership drive which will get under way with a breakfast meeting Wednesday, and a report on the annual meeting held last Thursday.

A. H. Hutton and Marting were named as an auditing committee to report at the next meeting.

Charge Is Reduced In Municipal Court

Modification of a warrant in Municipal Court Monday changed a charge against a Washington C. H. man from "disorderly conduct by threatening to shoot," to "disorderly conduct," court officials said Tuesday.

Howard Varney, 31, of 1524 N. North St., was originally charged with "disorderly conduct by threatening to shoot," in a warrant signed by his wife, Emma, court officials said.

Judge Max G. Dice ordered the specification "threatening to shoot," stricken from the record, allowing the warrant to read simply "disorderly conduct," it was reported. Varney was found guilty of the reduced charge and fined $25 and costs.

The change in court records was made Tuesday, although disposition of the case was made Monday.

New Jersey Governor Becomes Princetonian

PRINCETON, N. J. — Gov. Robert B. Meyner, a Lafayette graduate, is now even with his opponent in the November gubernatorial election.

Princeton's Class of 1922 Monday named him honorary member of the class because his father-in-law and Adlai E. Stevenson, a distant relative through marriage, are both Princeton men. His opponent, State Sen. Malcolm S. Forbes, is also a Princeton grad.

5 C. of C. Directors End Term of Service

Five directors of the Washington C. H. Chamber of Commerce completed their terms Monday night at the board's regular meeting.

New board members will take office July 8 when a new president will be elected.

Stepping down last night after three years in office were Tom Mark, president of the group; John Breiner, second vice president; Joseph Peters, Emerson Marting and L. M. (Pete) Hayes.

Mark thanked the board for their interest and cooperation during his term of office.

Heading the agenda was a resume of plans for the three-day membership drive which will get under way with a breakfast meeting Wednesday, and a report on the annual meeting held last Thursday.

A. H. Hutton and Marting were named as an auditing committee to report at the next meeting.

Charge Is Reduced In Municipal Court

Modification of a warrant in Municipal Court Monday changed a charge against a Washington C. H. man from "disorderly conduct by threatening to shoot," to "disorderly conduct," court officials said Tuesday.

Howard Varney, 31, of 1524 N. North St., was originally charged with "disorderly conduct by threatening to shoot" in a warrant signed by his wife, Emma, court officials said.

Judge Max G. Dice ordered the specification "threatening to shoot" stricken from the record, allowing the warrant to read simply "disorderly conduct," it was reported. Varney was found guilty of the reduced charge and fined $25 and costs.

The change in court records was made Tuesday, although disposition of the case was made Monday.
